Chiang Aide Sees Screen In Shelling

Small Isles Hit In Bombardment, Airfield Blasted

By AL KAFF

TAIPEI, Formosa (UPI) — Defense Ministry spokesman Adm. Liu Hsiang-Tu said today Communist naval forces were "converging" on the Formosa Strait area where heavy Red guns bombarded the Quemoy Islands with nearly 9,000 shells by mid-afternoon.

Liu said the Communists had 4,000 to 5,000 landing craft in the area following their recent buildup for possible amphibious landings. The Communists concentrated their shelling today on the sister islands of Tatan and Erhlan located in the mouth of Amoy Harbor but Liu warned the concentrated shelling of the two islands may be a screen for landings elsewhere.

The Communists also poured thousands of rounds of artillery on Quemoy in an apparent all-out effort to neutralize the airfield there.

Strip Damaged

It was the fifth straight day of murderous bombardment with the Communists shelling for an hour or two, stopping and then resuming the bombardment with greater intensity. In a three-hour morning bombardment they hit Quemoy with more than 2,000 shells. Liu Hsiang-Tu said the dirt airstrip on Quemoy was still usable despite the bombardment. He denied a "greatly exaggerated" one report the strip had been hit with 1,500 shells.

However, an American military source said, "I do not think any more planes will be flying to Quemoy from today." Liu said several planes landed at Quemoy Tuesday night and at dawn. The strip is used by cargo and military passenger planes; jets are based on Formosa.

Motives Not Clear

The Communists interrupted their bombardment of Quemoy at one point today to lay down a 4,000-round barrage on Tatan and Erhlan islands. All the islands in the Quemoy group are about 10 miles from the Communist-held mainland.

A government spokesman said the Nationalist garrison on Quemoy had replied with its own artillery and destroyed several Red gun emplacements at Weitou and Tatan and one ammunition depot and a gasoline depot on nearby Wuyui Island.

The Communist motives in the shelling still were not clear, but Vice Adm. Wallace Beakley, commander of the 7th Fleet, and Maj. Gen. Thomas S. Moorman, commander of the 13th Air Force in the Philippines, were conferring in Taipei with American and Chinese officers.

Waitress Quits Job, Cites Boss 'Harassed' Her

CHICAGO (AP)—Reports by a restaurant hostess that her boss forced her to quit her job by harassing her after she testified before the Senate Rackets Committee will be investigated by both the U. S. and state attorneys' offices. The woman, Beverly Sturtevant, 28, who defied a mob threat against her and testified before the committee in Washington July 17, disclosed Tuesday she quit the Embassy Restaurant in suburban Cicero two weeks ago under pressure.

Waldo Koehler, owner of the restaurant, denied he forced Mrs. Sturtevant to quit the job, saying she left in a "fit of temperance."

Spacemen's Greatest Peril Would Be On Return Home

AMSTERDAM (AP)—Coming home to earth could hold the greatest danger of blackout and disaster for spacemen, a U. S. Air Force physician reported to the International Astronautical Federation today.

The danger would result from the sudden speedup from the earth's pull of gravity after the weightlessness of outer space.

This change is apparently tougher on the human system than going from the dragging weight of rocket takeoff into weightlessness when a ship is flying in space, said Dr. Harald J. von Beckh of Holloman Air Force Base, Alamogordo, N.M.

Heart Attack Delays Baker Probe Recall

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Rackets Committee said Robert (Barney) Baker, 300-pound aide to top Teamsters Union bosses, today suffered a severe heart attack.

The attack came just a few hours before Baker was to have testified in the rackets hearings. Chairman John L. McClellan (D-Ark) announced Baker's illness as he opened the hearing.

Robert F. Kennedy, committee counsel, told reporters first reports were that Baker's condition was critical. He said Baker, son-in-law of former Iowa Democratic State Chairman Jake Moore, was stricken at his hotel shortly before he would have started for the Senate Office Building.

The committee had planned to question Baker and other witnesses about an envelope full of $100 bills to learn who got the money and what it was used for.

Baker was scheduled for testimony in continuation of the committee's investigation into alleged corruption and terrorism in Teamsters Union affairs.

Baker told the committee last Thursday he could not remember whether he ever had an envelope at the time alleged, a year ago this month, Nor, he said, could he remember whether—if he had it—such an envelope contained $1,000, or from whom he might have received it.

On one point Baker was firm: "I never got paid no $1,000" to arrange labor peace between the Teamsters Union and the Esco Motor Exhibitors Service Co., of McKees Rocks, Pa.

The committee announced it also would call as witnesses George F. Callahan Jr., Esco president, and Edward Weinheimer, a labor consultant to the firm.

Owners of a Des Moines, Iowa, motor court had testified Weinheimer and Baker were guests at their place a year ago, that Weinheimer received three white envelopes by express, and that soon afterward Baker drew a $100 bill from a currency-filled envelope that looked just like one of those Weinheimer had received. They said Baker used the money to pay his bill.

Dag Arrives, Begins Talks With Hussein

AMMAN, Jordan (AP)—Dag Hammarskjöld arrived in Jordan today for the first round of talks to "stabilize the Middle East" enough for U. S. and British troops to go home.

The U. N. secretary general was greeted at the Amman airport by Premier Samir Rifai. They went directly to King Hussein's hilltop palace. Hammarskjöld declined to discuss his peacekeeping mission with reporters.

Hammarskjöld and three aides flew to Amman from Beirut in a U. N. courier plane. During an overnight stop in the Lebanese capital, he conferred only with U. N. officials.

After a side trip to Geneva Saturday for the opening of the second atoms-for-peace conference, Hammarskjöld is expected to visit Cairo next week for talks with President Nasser of the United Arab Republic. He will return to Beirut to discuss withdrawal of the American forces, will also visit Baghdad and may go also to Saudi Arabia.

Alaskan Vote Favors Entry In Union Now

JUNEAU, Alaska (AP)—Scattered but mounting returns indicated today an overwhelming number of Alaskans, voting in a special election, favor immediate statehood.

Only a handful of the territory's approximately 297 voting precincts had reported complete returns, but the early vote was running heavily in favor of statehood.

Congress approved Alaska's admission as the 49th state in July. Early returns in the Alaskan voting indicated the margin of approval would be greater than the expected 2-1. The total number of votes cast was passing all expectations.

The voting was on three separate referendum propositions, the key to which was on the first ballot: "Shall Alaska immediately be admitted to the Union as a state?"

The answer from 43 precincts gave 4,063 yes votes to 1,023 against.

Much of that total came from southeastern Alaska, which prior to enactment of statehood legislation had been considered cool to a change from territorial status.

Most of the opposition had been based on a fear that increased costs of state government would mean a new boost in taxes for the territory's 215,000 residents.

However, the heavy outpouring at the polls was viewed by most observers as an indication that statehood was headed for approval by a wide margin.

The new minimum applies to a work week of 32 to 40 hours a week. The present minimum is for 24 to 40 hours.

Legislature Will Act On Faubus Plea

Supreme Court To Meet Tomorrow In Little Rock Dispute

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Justice Department will file a brief in the Little Rock school integration case with the Supreme Court Thursday morning.

By The Associated Press

The South's deep-seated resistance to integration is being tested in the courts and applauded in the emergency states' rights meeting of the Arkansas Legislature today as the U. S. Supreme Court prepares for its historic session. The nine justices meet Thursday.

At stake is whether the high court will grant Little Rock's Central High School a breathing spell in its year-old integration program or force immediate reacceptance of Negroes into its classrooms.

Faubus Asks Authority Gov. Orval E. Faubus of Arkansas asked the opening session of the Legislature Tuesday for power to close the schools rather than bow to any federal race-mixing order. He said integration never could be constitutionally enforced upon a school.

As a last-ditch measure, the governor offered the lawmakers a bill to set up segregated classrooms within an integrated school. Within hours, a special House Education Committee recommended passage of a total of 12 segregation bills.

The Little Rock School Board filed a brief with the Supreme Court saying it would be unable to operate Central High under present conditions in the city.

At Gainesville, Fla., University of Florida announced that a Negro had qualified for admittance this fall to do graduate work.

So far there has been no integration violence. Many developments on the integration front featured legal maneuverings by courts and school boards as the opening day of school approached. They included:

Virginia—The state's policy of massive resistance to integrated schools suffered another setback when U. S. Dist. Judge John Paul declined to approve in its entirety the school districting plan of the Charlottesville School Board.

Tennessee—Fifteen Negro first-graders enrolled without incident for desegregated classes in seven Nashville city schools. The plan called for a new district around Nashville city schools.

Boy Runs Away, Doesn't Go Far In Mother's Car

DETROIT (AP)—Ten-year-old Desmond McDuffie had an argument with his widowed mother Tuesday night and decided to return to his former home in Memphis, Tenn.

Desmond got out his mother's car and left. He got about two miles from home before he gave up. Police said the boy struck at least 14 parked cars before crashing through a fence and flattening the back porch of a house. Desmond fled on foot.

Police found him hiding under a pile of cartons at a nearby grocery.

Nixon Gets Keating To Enter N. Y. Race

WASHINGTON (AP)—Vice President Nixon apparently has dropped a 1960 presidential anchor to windward in the troubled sea of New York politics.

Nixon's activity in urging Republican Rep. Kenneth B. Keating of Rochester into the race for the Senate was interpreted here as an effort directed in part at keeping the vice president's presidential aspirations afloat in a critical area.

Keating had been reluctant to gamble an almost sure House seat by entering the contest for the post being vacated by GOP Sen. Irving Ives. But he agreed to make the Senate race after Nixon called him and said both Nixon and President Eisenhower thought he would be a fine nominee.

Shortly afterward, Keating was nominated by the Republican state convention meeting in Rochester.

James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, told reporters Nixon had informed him of receiving a telephone call from Nelson Rockefeller, GOP nominee for New York governor, saying that Rockefeller and others were strongly urging Keating to run for the Senate.

Hagerty said Nixon talked personally to Eisenhower and then relayed to Keating the word that "both the President and himself thought that Mr. Keating would be a fine candidate, and the vice president urged Mr. Keating not to decline the nomination should the opportunity be presented by the Republican State Convention."

This indirectly breached Eisenhower's self-imposed rule against intervening in the choice of party nominees.

But it provided Nixon with a friendly political associate on a ticket headed by a GOP governor candidate who might become Nixon's chief rival for the party's next presidential nomination.

Woman Reports Jewelry Stolen

BALTIMORE (AP)—An Ocean City, Md., woman told police $9,600 in jewels were stolen from her hotel room last night after she accidentally left the key in the door to her suite.

Police said Mrs. Miles Carey, 44, told them she was watching television in another nearby room and returned to discover the theft. Missed by the thieves, she said, were a pearl necklace and two ruby clips worth several thousand dollars.

Integration Slow Down Seems Best

Denies Expressing Regret Court Rule Made In Race Issue

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower said today he will campaign for a Republican Congress this year on the issue of reducing the government's deficit.

Eisenhower told his news conference he is going to stress in campaign talks the necessity for cutting the deficit and putting the economy on a sound, healthy basis.

The President gave no indication of how much campaigning he expects to do. He said he had not promised, for instance, to campaign in New York.

Will Study Major Items As a preliminary to voicing his own views on reduction in red ink spending, Eisenhower said he is going to study every major item of a forthcoming governmental budget to see if it can be cut for the benefit of America.

In response to a question, he said he had no comment at the moment on the possibility of a tax increase.

The denial that he has made any speaking commitments was made in a discussion of the New York campaign. Eisenhower said the New York State convention's choice of Nelson Rockefeller as the GOP candidate for governor and of Rep. Kenneth B. Keating as the nominee for senator gave the party a fine ticket that he hopes is elected.

Eisenhower dealt with these other subjects in the wide-ranging news conference.

INTEGRATION — He said he may have told friends he believes the efforts to push school integration should be slowed down, but he denied he has said he wishes the 1954 Supreme Court ruling against segregation had not been made.

At the same time Eisenhower made plain the government would accept the high court's invitation to take part in tomorrow's Supreme Court session on the Little Rock integration case.

OFFSHORE ISLANDS—The offshore islands held by the Chinese Nationalists—lands which in the last week or so have been under heavy attack by Communist China—have taken on increased importance to the United States in over-all strategy dealing with defense of Formosa.

Shuns Giving Answer How ever, Eisenhower once again refused to say whether the United States would consider a Red invasion of Quemoy, Mats and other offshore islands a matter for U. S. intervention.

Dorsey, of the Mason Transfer Co., Baltimore, told Anne Arundel County police the money represented income and social security tax deductions from employees' wages.

Dorsey said he and his wife Reb. Cobb, national treasurer of the Woodmen of the World Life Insurance Co., Omaha, Neb., died Monday of a coronary thrombosis. He had been Davidson County clerk since 1935.

CBS Finds 'Nothing Wrong' After TV Quiz Show Check

CBS' statement was in a telegram to David S. Worgan, executive assistant to Dist. Atty. Frank S. Hogan.

Experts Reveal Red Sub Threat

Missile-Firing Craft Could Attack U. S. Cities

WASHINGTON (AP)—A group of experts warned today that by the early 1960s missile-firing Soviet submarines will be capable of devastating American cities.

"A massive attack with such weapons could level our entire urban society," said the Undersecretary of Defense. The group was making these recommendations to the Military Subcommittee of the House-Senate Atomic Energy Committee.

In its 16-page report, the panel painted a picture of grave peril ahead for the United States unless this nation's own submarine and antisubmarine programs are pushed with more vigor and on a much larger scale.

"In a future war," the report said, "the ocean could be our enemy as never before." Therefore, said the panel, the government should make these recommendations for meeting the danger:

1. The Navy should proceed with all speed with construction of submarines capable of firing the 1,500-mile Polaris ballistic missile. Present plans call for the first of these submarines to be available in 1960.

2. The Polaris submarine program should be kept separate from the Navy's regular ship budget. Polaris money requests should be determined by the secretary of defense and the National Security Council as part of the nation's over-all strategic deterrent budget.

3. There should be a significant increase in the rate and scale of building attack submarines—the ones that track down enemy subs. with undersea warfare problems.

4. The Navy's research and development budget for undersea warfare should be doubled, with substantial increases year by year. There should also be a substantial increase in the Navy's budget for basic research.

5. Greater use should be made of universities, private research centers and industry for grappling with undersea warfare problems.

Board Asks U. S. Jurist To Solve Racial Impasse

ARLINGTON, Va. (AP)—The Arlington County School Board, caught in an apparent conflict between a Federal Court desegregation order and state law, says it will ask Federal Judge Albert V. Bryan to show it the way out.

The Board said Tuesday night it would ask Bryan next Tuesday—two days before schools are scheduled to open—what it should do about 30 Negro children seeking admission to Arlington white schools.

Several hours earlier, in Harrisonburg, Federal Judge John Paul handed another setback to the state's massive resistance to integration doctrine by refusing to approve in its entirety the redistricting plan drawn up by the Charlottesville School Board.

Charlottesville created a new district around Jefferson School, a Negro school and all 30 Negro applicants to white schools live in that district. Judge Paul said he felt some phases of the redistricting were not discriminatory but that he was troubled over other phases of it.

Virginia law requires the closing of any public school which becomes integrated.

In Norfolk authorities continued reviewing applications of 151 Negroes seeking admission to white public schools. Federal Judge Walter E. Hoffman has told them to reconsider all the applications—particularly 16 he deemed rejected because of race.

Cops Nab Former Actress After Clash In Hollywood

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Attractive Gregg Sherwood, wife of automobile executive Horace E. Dodge II, appears in court today for arraignment on charges of suspicion of battery and drunkenness.

The former actress and Chicago columnist Irv Kupcinet, 46, were jailed Tuesday after an early morning encounter with police officers along La Cienega Boulevard near Hollywood.

There were two stories. The one told by Officers Kenneth F. Bernard and Lawrence B. Brown pictured 34-year-old Mrs. Dodge as a pugnacious, fighting, kicking, spitting objector to going to jail.

The other told by the former model was that she was the victim of a "nightmare" of hair pulling, arm twisting, and tugging by police matrons.

According to arresting officers, the trouble started when Mrs. Dodge leaned from a car driven by Kupcinet and yelled at officers: "You guys had better get off the street. You're speeding and you're drunk."

After following and stopping Kupcinet's car, the police said Mrs. Dodge called them "two slimy Napoleonic idiots."

"You both are slob. I hate you!" the officers quoted Mrs. Dodge.

The scene switched to the city jail where the officers said the tall beauty, using a fashionable shoe as a weapon, fought it out with matrons Mallyn Sperry and Gail Rice.

Later the former showgirl was released on $270 bail and ordered to appear in court. Kupcinet was freed on $263. He was ordered to appear on misdemeanor drunk driving charges.

Officers said Kupcinet went to jail quietly, denied he was drunk, passed a coordination test but refused to take an intoximeter examination.

CONGRESS—Eisenhower said he wants another week or 10 days before coming up with a final appraisal of the record of the recently adjourned Democratic-controlled Congress.

He did say, however, that he believes Congress did a constructive job in the foreign relations field. He qualified that by adding that he was greatly disappointed that the legislators gave him less money for the foreign aid program than he requested.

Eisenhower also expressed disappointment that legislation to curb corruption in the labor-management field was shelved.

Eisenhower also said he felt there was a tendency in Congress to spend more money generally than he had requested.

MIDDLE EAST—Asked about prospects for a long-term settlement of differences in the Middle East, Eisenhower replied he thinks the chances are better than they were before.

Encyclopedia
Suit Docketed

BALTIMORE (AP)—The federal government has filed suit for $80,000 damages against Americana Corporation for alleged false representations in the sale of Encyclopedia Americana.

The unusual action was brought in Federal Court yesterday under a law which authorizes the government to claim $5,000 for each violation of an order of the Federal Trade Commission.

Sixteen alleged violations of a 1949 cease-and-desist order against the corporation were cited in the suit. Most of them dealt with the representation by salesmen that the set of books was available only to selected individuals.

The cease-and-desist order was not appealed by the corporation, which now has offices in Bethesda, Md.

Steel Output Expected To Increase

NEW YORK (UPI)—The steel recovery of the steel market. However, if the labor troubles are settled peacefully, the magazine said, automotive orders will flood steel sales offices. Steelmakers then would have to react by allocating their ingots on a tighter schedule and by extending deliveries.

Iron Age said the steel labor outlook for next year suggests a "knock-down, drag-out fight," the hardest one since the pension battle of the late 1940's.

The magazine also disputed published reports that David McDonald, United Steelworkers president, will step down at the forthcoming union convention. "Nothing could be further from his thoughts or from his backers, who will have a comfortable majority of the convention."

Iron Age said McDonald's greatest headache will be the solid front the steel companies will put up against him. The industry, said the magazine, wants to make a dent in the long upward march of wage and fringe increases which have pushed up the price of steel.

"Many steel leaders feel this is the time to use in labor negotiations the full impact of public opinion, the economic outlook, and the need to end wage spirals."

OUR COUNTRY

The union of flags, the union of hands and the flag of our Union for ever.—Morris.

Dangerous Game

IF REPORTS ARE true that Russia intends to give Red China nuclear weapons, that could rank with the most unwelcome news of 1958. It is bad enough that the Soviet Union has these weapons. Yet there is a feeling in many quarters that the Kremlin understands the great peril for all mankind that lies in a nuclear war. Up to now, the Communist Chinese have given no sign that they, too, have this understanding. For all their long history as an active force in China, they are brash, militant newcomers to the realm of real power. Their attitudes are harsh, militaristic, contemptuous of risk to humanity.

THEY HAVE been carrying forward a military build-up in the Chinese coastal province opposite Nationalist-held Formosa and the small offshore islands of Matsu and Quemoy. Evidence indicates they still hold to their aggressive designs on this territory. Again and again they have been credited with exerting a stiffening influence upon Russia's Khrushchev when he has veered away from the rigid ruthlessness of Stalinism.

IN TRUTH, Red China's devotion to the uncompromising brutality of Stalin is complete. And it has shown more than a little willingness to practice these dark arts of the aggressor throughout the whole of Southeast Asia. No nation on earth, therefore, is probably less qualified than Red China for the awesome responsibility of possessing nuclear arms. When and if that possession becomes a fact, the world's sense of peril must inevitably be immensely increased. For Russia's own salvation as well as all the world's, Khrushchev ought to think many times before handing the nuclear tinder box to a Red China that likes to play with matches.

Turkey's Status

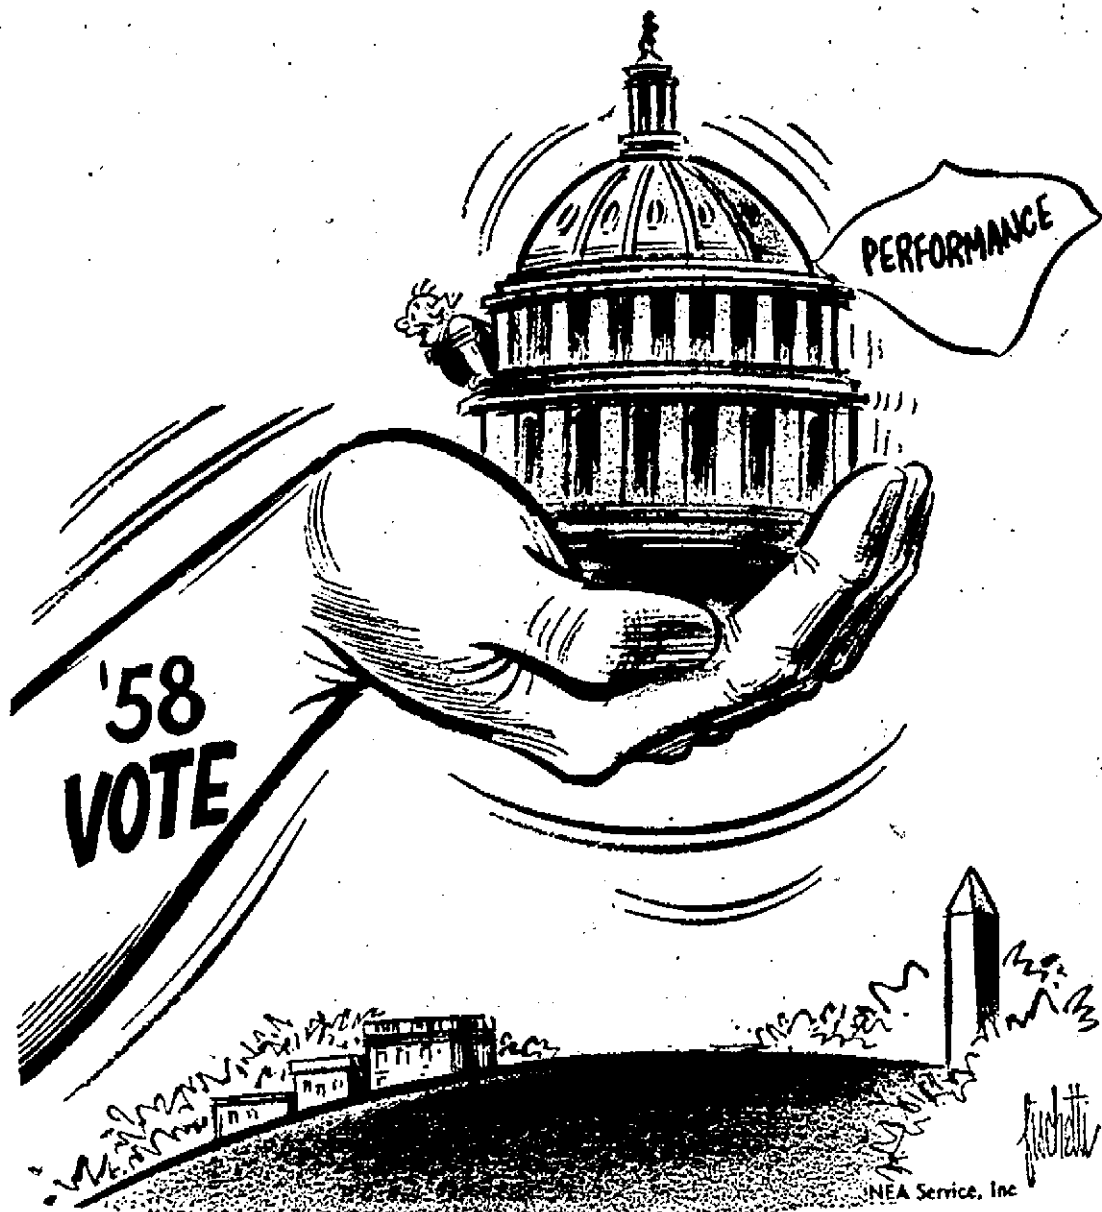

TURKEY IS A vital part of our Middle Eastern line of defense. Lying right across the Russian path of advance to the Black Sea and the Mediterranean, it also flanks any Soviet movement toward the Persian Gulf. Turkey is therefore highly esteemed by the Western powers. It was not always so. For centuries the Turks were a formidable and advancing power, like the Russians today. After Turkish strength faded, their rule over the remainder of the empire was corrupt and tyrannical, varied by occasional massacres of the Christian population. Few would have thought, as late as 1908, that the Turks would ever be deemed reputable allies. In 1908 the old sultanate was overthrown. Though the new officials had all the defects of the old, they were also weaker. Then after World War I Mustafa Kemal, head of the army, came to power and modernized the nation. While there have been occasional backslidings in the humane conduct of the government, there is no comparison between today's rulers and their predecessors. The Turkish government today is efficient and moderately democratic. That is why no reproach attaches, as it long did, to an alliance with the Turks.

Tighter Control

THE NEW FEDERAL law relating to operation of small boats will have two good effects. The first of these is that it will give states authority to control such boats on navigable waters, which traditionally are under federal jurisdiction. The second good result is that passage of this measure will stimulate the states to take a closer look at their own statute books and enforcement practices. The law controlling small boat operations is not adequate, in many places, and often it is but poorly enforced. There was some excuse for this years ago, when rowboats were more common than motorboats. There was even some excuse for it when motorboats became common but were for the most part of low power. But now there are powerful small boats on waters throughout the nation. A tightening of control is overdue.

A WOULD-BE THIN man of our acquaintance says he doesn't mind dieting, except that the exercise of pushing himself away from the table gives him such an appetite.

"Well?"

Rayburn Technique Gives Johnson Power

WASHINGTON — Senator John Sherman Cooper, Kentucky Republican, explains the paradoxes of the Congressional session just concluded with the quip that four parties operated the 85th Congress: Democrats, Republicans, the Senate-House conference and Lyndon Baines Johnson.

The greatest of these has been Johnson because the absence of clear lines of authority elsewhere, including the White House, gave him the chance to practice his art almost without let or hindrance.

That the Senate Majority Leader is an expert political technician has been apparent from the day he operated himself into the Senate although a Southerner, rather young in years and seniority, and obviously possessed of intense personal ambition.

HE HAS HAD and still has an enormous advantage recognized by all observers here, though perhaps not by the general public. It is that the House is firmly managed by the towering Texan, Speaker Rayburn, Johnson's mentor and friend. Johnson served 11 years under Rayburn in the House, learning both Rayburn's technique and Rayburn himself.

It is a fruitful combination.

The Rayburn imprint is large on the record now being widely praised in the financial press as well as the news columns. But the Senate customarily takes the last word, and in the clinches, nearly everything depended on Johnson's ability to make his one-vote margin of control stretch to a winning majority.

Thus the record bears all the Johnson hallmarks.

IT IS DOWN the middle. It is therefore short on political policy and long on legislative practice.

Its compromises also reflect the Cooper reference to the Senate-House conference, where differences between the two chambers—and there were some big ones—must be ironed out.

It is difficult, of course, for even the most talented Congressional leaders to make policy; it was the more difficult the past two years with a non-policy-maker of the opposite party in the White House.

This accounts for the biggest single gap in the 1958 record here: the failure to deal with inflation. In fact, both Congress and the Administration aggravated it.

THAT FAILURE and aggravation will hit the returning Congress in the eye next January, for by that time the impact of the biggest peacetime budget in history will have become apparent.

Already the consumer price index has reached a new high. In fact, since March, 1956, the index has risen every month but three, with only one month of that three showing a decline which was slight.

The combination of recession—there are still about five million unemployed—and inflation confused the classical economists and clearly bewildered the politicians. Political analysts were deepened by the sure knowledge that the Soviets are steadily advancing in military and economic power.

THIS FALL'S candidates are not at all sure how much bad news they can persuade the voters to heed, remembering that prophet without honor, Adlai Stevenson, in 1956. One thoughtful Senator, Fulbright of Arkansas, has had the courage to suggest that the people must bear a share of the blame—but he is not up to this fall.

WASHINGTON — With the help of a fur-bearing gnat from Yucaipa, Calif., a fuzzy bear on a Pittsburgh, Pa., streetcar track and other portents too numerous even to mention, the far-flung Othman Weather Forecasting Service now predicts one of the bitterest winters ever.

This is a good day for it, too: let as the hinges hereabouts, but coming up soon across this land will be icicles, blizzards, frozen engines, gales, frosted cars, and snow such as this forecaster never experienced.

First sign came from Pop Norstad of Yucaipa, my West Coast operative, who forwarded a gnat (dead) with the suggestion that I scrutinize it through my enlarging glass. This I did, and just like Pop said, it was wearing a self-grown mink overcoat. This is something never seen before, not even in Yucaipa, where Pop lives 5,000 feet up the side of San Geronimo Mountain.

"Looks bad," he reported. "Augsurs no good for this coming winter."

FUR-CLAD gnats have been pestering the folks out Pop's way as never before, dive-bombing mostly in the direction of their ears and growing like busted radios. They are so bad Pop is thinking of moving to the top of the mountain, where there are no gnats.

I was examining his sample gnat, carefully packed in a crush-proof package, when I received a further report from my Pittsburgh agent, R. Bourquin of Howard Street.

He was on his way home with a sore jaw from the dentist when he spied on the car track, at the intersection of Sandusky and East Ohio Streets, a long, fat, fuzzy bear. It looked like a striped caterpillar, but Agent Bourquin recognized it for what it was: an infallible weather forecaster. All you have to do is read its stripes.

THIS BEAST was brown in front with a band of black about three-eighths of an inch wide, followed by another wide band of brown. Wisely, Bourquin sent the facts here to headquarters for analysis.

A black band that broad on a city-bred fuzzy bear is almost unheard of; it indicates a rough winter in Pittsburgh. While my intrepid agent was examining this weather forecaster, I must add, there almost was a serious accident to a pedestrian; he nearly got bumped by a trolley. The latter, incidentally, squashed the evidence and that is a pity.

ANOTHER operative in West Virginia, who prefers to remain anonymous, rushes in with word that he found a whole covey of fuzzy bears in the middle of the state toll road. They weren't traveling south and neither were they going north. They were walking around in circles.

This also is something that seldom has happened before; it indicates these worms were so startled by the news they received on their antennae they couldn't decide in which direction there'd be warmth.

AMONG MY feminine agents is Mrs. E. W. Lewis of Washington, D. C., who was spending her vacation in Maine only last week. She stuck the toes of her left foot in the sea. They didn't fall off, she said, but almost. The water was that cold.

This information arrived just before the hydrographers started trying to decide why the water temperature on much of the Atlantic Seaboard was far below normal. Their tentative conclusion: a shift in ocean currents.

THAT'S WHAT they think. The Othman Forecasters' Association knows better. This coming winter will be so extra-special cold that the sea already is responding. The worms, the gnats, and Mrs. Lewis' toes prove it, and I defy the U.S. Weather Bureau to show otherwise.

Glancing Sideways

NEW YORK — A scientist, but not one of the major four concerned with the Magnetic Pinch Propulsion Plasma engine described here yesterday, came by the other night to talk about anything in the world except the vexing, wracking, nerve-fraying problem that engages him right now.

He wanted to stray his thoughts far afield, but it didn't work. He began talking about the almost-myth that science fiction writers, huddled over typewriters thinking up flights of science fancy, had actually thought up scientific realities before the scientists did.

"It hasn't quite worked that way," he said. "It is true that virtually on the eve of the first atom bomb test a magazine of the kind did come out with an extraordinary fiction story in which bomb details were set down."

"The poor writer, who had dreamed it all up in his imagination, had a vile time convincing the FBI, the Manhattan Project and others that he was innocent of anything except imagination. But that is the classic example. Mostly, they write scientific gibberish."

"IT MUST BE difficult to do even that," I said.

"Nothing of the sort," he snorted. "I can sit here and in two minutes think up a science fiction plot with a whip in it. And I won't use anything new to our world in the way of science. Okay? Time me."

Two minutes of silence ensued and, on signal, he looked up.

"ALL RIGHT," he said. "Let's go. An enormous space vehicle from another galaxy comes to our earth and at a height of 1,000 miles stops. A strapping fellow, broad of shoulders, tall, handsome, humanoid, gets into a tiny scout vehicle and comes to earth on the dark side, landing without detection."

"Once landed, he pushes a button and his little vehicle destroys itself and all sign of it is obliterated. He is in facsimiles of our male clothing of the period, has learned English from memory tapes, has been provided with perfect facsimiles of our money and has been drilled in our customs, mores and even slang."

Reporter's Notebook

NEW YORK — What this world needs most today is a little more flattery, a revival of the good old art of apple sauce. A great deal of ridicule has been directed at the "yes man," but he fills a great need in society. We might do well with a few more of them.

Colleges now teach everything from bridge playing to how to cook an omelette. Why don't they have a course on the technique and use of flattery?

There is a saying that "flattery will get you nowhere." That saying is out-of-date and inaccurate. The truth is that the pendulum has swung the other way. If flattery won't get it for you, nothing will.

FLATTERY IS the banana oil that greases the wheels of progress.

It never was more needed than right now. Mankind today is homesick for applause, and crying for a pat on the back.

We live in a century which, for one reason or another, goes in for too much self-hate. Practically everyone is afflicted with a sense of guilt—from panhandler to millionaire—and has a secret feeling he's a bum.

Time was when most people knew their own motives were pure but suspected the motives of others. They liked to think of themselves as being just a bit better than their neighbors—more honest, more sincere, more charitable, more moved by tolerance and good will.

No longer. Everybody seems to suspect himself first of all now. He needs no accusers. He not only casts the first stone—he casts it at himself. If he does a good deed, he asks himself cynically just what dark reason is really behind it.

The new psychology has turned us from self-applause to self-criticism. This wouldn't be bad in itself, if we didn't go overboard. But we have gone overboard.

We are in danger of going on from self-questioning to self-hate. We are in danger of forgetting we are potential heroes as well as potential villains.

THIS MASS sense of guilt has some odd aspects. The fat man becomes afraid to enjoy a good meal, for fear this shows he may be harboring a secret desire to commit suicide. The wealthy man hesitates to endow a charity, for fear he may really be doing it only to show off.

What we need now is a return to common sense and self-respect—and maybe a few career admirers to tell us we aren't really as bad as we think we are. We've run ourselves down long enough.

Flattery, apple sauce, banana oil—call it what you will—it's what we need. It's far better than tranquilizers.

Everyone at heart today is yearning for someone to clap him on the shoulder and say: "Pal, you're real. The world wouldn't be the same without you."

If you can't get someone else to tell you that, tell it to yourself, over and over. In time you'll come to believe it, and feel better.

Washington Scene

WASHINGTON — It strikes me that a very immoral moral can be drawn from the vicissitudes of Robert (Barney) Baker, the monstrous minion of Teamster President James R. Hoffa: Don't tell your wife, nor your girl friend, anything you wouldn't want to hear repeated on the witness stand. Your wife is apt to decide she doesn't care to be your loving helpmeet any longer, and your girl friend is liable to shoot somebody else and not be your girl friend any more.

Above all, if you have both a wife and a girl friend (which some moralists consider an unseemly arrangement) do not brag to them, nor drop big names. If they lose that fine, tender, feeling for you, they are apt to put you in a position where you will have to cop a plea to telling "little white lies," which will make you feel pretty silly, if you have achieved a reputation for telling big, black ones.

All this happened to Hoffa's behemoth, and you should have seen the 284-pounder (reduced down from 420) squirm. It would have been sad if it wasn't so entertaining. Looking very much like a channel bass trying to spit a hook, the strongarm goss tried to convince the Senate Labor Rackets Committee that he was nothing but a bigmouth braggart of heath and boudoir.

BARNEY BAKER swore that Mrs. Mollie Baker, who reversed the accepted process by having his child first and marrying him after, made a big falsehood out of his little white lie that he was a close friend of Gov. Averell Harriman, of New York. He swore the same about his ex-girl friend Ruth Brougher, who didn't even stay true to him enough to shoot him, but potted another unionist, winning herself 15 years in the pokey for marksmanship.

Mr. Baker left the impression that "these two ladies," as Senator John McClellan, the chairman, kept referring to them with old Arkansas gallantry, do not love him any more, and that he finds their defection difficult to understand because he is a most lovable fellow. He had the look of a wistful hippopotamus as he conceded he had probably talked too big to his ex-beloveds.

It seemed to me that I could detect looks of fellow feeling among many of the males in the Caucus Room as he confessed this, but it could have been imagination stirred up by an uneasy conscience. At recess, however, a number of my colleagues, and even a couple of senators, confided in strictest confidence that this should be a lesson to them to talk smaller around the heath and home. Or, as one Rhodes scholar put it: "After listenin' to that poor fat bum, I ain't goin' to tell nothin' at home, never."

This domestic policy might be assailed by some moralists on the ground that Mr. Baker is not a typical American husband, and lover. But it may serve to make a fair segment of our male population exercise a little more reserve in trying to impress their current loved ones with their importance.

MR. BAKER is not a man in whose uncorroborated word I would place implicit confidence—in fact I would question him closely if he tried to tell me that September 1 is Labor Day—but I am afraid he convinced many of his listeners that he is not on as chummy terms with the Governor of New York as his "ladies" said he said. He also succeeded in turning the rackets investigation, temporarily, into a battle between Senator Irving Ives, of New York, and Senator John Kennedy, of Massachusetts, over Ave Harriman's honor.

Dear Abby - - - By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My husband is a good-looking lawyer. Some attractive woman is always pouring out her domestic problems to him in the process of getting a divorce. I am sick of these love-starved, mistreated women who use my husband as a wailing wall. He says it's all in a day's work but they call him up at night and cry some more. Should I tell him I don't want him taking any more divorce cases for women under 50.

DEAR JEALOUS: Any woman whose husband is exposed to attractive females as part of his daily routine should have more confidence in herself and more faith in her husband. Don't give him an ultimatum. The women of whom you are jealous are probably far more jealous of you. Skip it.

DEAR ABBY: I have been going with a married man for three years. He swears he loves me and the only reason he goes home is to see his children. He says he has nothing to do with his wife but she has a baby every year and I don't know what to make of it. He keeps telling me he is saving up for a divorce and I am saving too, but I am beginning to think he is just stringing me. Do you think he is being unfaithful to me with his wife? Should I go to his wife and settle it once and for all? I really love this man, Abby. Please help me.

MIXED UP
DEAR MIXED UP (and you ARE Mixed Up): Leave his wife alone... and leave HER husband alone, too. Women who get involved with married men can find sympathy under "S" in the dictionary. Straighten up and fly right.

DEAR ABBY: My problem is

Terry Cloth Towels Produce Results

Here's a handy tip—use inexpensive kitchen towels made of terrycloth. Because they quickly soak up lots of water, they are efficient for drying china, glassware, and silverware.

It will pay you to keep adequate supplies of two types of terries in the kitchen—one size or color for wiping dishes, and another size or color for wiping your hands. All can be kept sanitary by washing in hot soap or detergent suds—no ironing.

Jobless Benefit Checks Forged In W. Virginia

By JERRY GOULD
United Press International
CHARLESTON, W. V. (UPI)—Most merchants are very careful and demand complete identification when cashing checks but, then again, some apparently accept them with little or no question.

Last week an employee of the State Workmen's Compensation Commission allegedly confessed to the forgery of six compensation fund checks totaling $714 over a period of several months.

Authorities described as crude the forgery works of Clyde Bolar, 41, and although he is crippled from an attack of polio, none of the persons who cashed the checks could remember the man well enough to identify him for police.

Workmen's Compensation Commissioner George Sharp said Bolar was an immediate suspect when inquiries first reached his office on the whereabouts of several checks.

None Remember Him
"He was heavily in debt and after I made preliminary investigation, the State Police were called in," Sharp said. "Yet, when these places were checked, no one could remember the man."

The six checks involved were cashed at supermarkets, a drug store and produce market, all located in either Charleston or South Charleston. Sharp said those who took the forged checks apparently thought it logical that a crippled person should be receiving compensation checks.

"But unless I am known by the clerks," Sharp laughed, "I always have to produce identification when getting a check cashed at a market."

Police Have Trouble, Too
He said he was told by state troopers who assisted in the investigation that they also had gone into various places in uniform and had difficulty getting state checks cashed.

Yet Bolar apparently had little trouble, if any, passing the checks which police said he confessed to taking after they were returned by various persons to the department.

He apparently made no great attempt to conceal his handwriting. The first check was cashed Jan. 3 and the others followed in April and May.

Sharp said the J's an R's on all the checks were almost identical with samples of Bolar's handwriting when cashing checks," Sharp observed.

Marylanders Exhausting Benefits

BALTIMORE (AP)—Marylanders are exhausting their 26 weeks two-fifths of them—10,269—have of jobless benefits, and receiving one or more checks unemployed money from the supplementary der the Temporary Unemployment federal program—at an increasing rate.

Since last Oct. 1., says the Department of Employment Security, 24,187 claimants have received

During July, 158,549 checks totaling $4,640,919 were paid to Marylanders. In addition, 14,786 claimants now living outside the state were paid $450,822.

Payments to Marylanders showed a drop of three-tenths of 1 per cent in both number and amount.

The cumulative rate of exhaustion reached 19.8 per cent in July, the department said, as compared with 16.7 per cent during June.

Convention Postmen Continue To Walk

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Sometimes it's hard to sympathize with a postman and his tired feet.

Five thousand are attending the National Assn. of Letter Carriers convention here and it seemed that most of them were in a 2 1/2-hour parade along Market Street Tuesday night.

That's not all! Spokesmen said their marching bands will march—and play—through downtown San Francisco daily the remainder of the week.

GOP Leaders Map Plans For Congress Vote

Party Is Trying To Develop Local, National Issues

By RAYMOND LAHR
United Press International
CHICAGO (UPI) — The high command of the Republican Party is meeting here to persuade itself that the GOP can win back control of Congress this year and then to figure out how to do the job.

To pull it off, the Republicans must buck what has appeared to be a Democratic trend in the two years since President Eisenhower won reelection by a landslide without bringing in a GOP Congress with him. They must also buck history, which has shown that the party in control of the White House normally loses congressional seats in mid-term elections when the presidency is not at stake.

To reverse this trend the GOP is trying to develop issues on a local and national basis, rally support for President Eisenhower and stress the importance of nominating "attractive" candidates. However successful these approaches might be, many GOP leaders would count it a moral victory if they could hold their own.

Senate Job Toughest

All 435 House seats and 34 of the 96 Senate seats are at stake this fall. Ratification of Alaskan statehood would mean one more House member and two more senators.

While the GOP needs to show a net gain of 21 House seats and only one Senate seat to its present membership, the Senate job looks the toughest.

In the 34 Senate seats outside Alaska, 21 are now held by Republicans and 13 by Democrats. Six are "safe" Democratic seats in the South. Of the remaining seven, all except Sen. William Proxmire (D-Wis.) managed to win in 1952 when President Eisenhower was carrying their states in the presidential vote. The President will not be on the ballot this year.

Of the 21 Republican seats, about a dozen are counted in the tossup class. If the Democrats win half of these, even if Proxmire loses, they still would show a net gain of five.

Claim Potter's Seat

The Democrats claim the seat of Sen. Charles E. Potter (R-Mich.) already is theirs, and the Republicans admit it has them worried. Elsewhere, the Democrats believe their chances are better than even to displace Republican senators in Connecticut, Pennsylvania, California, Maryland and at least one of the two Senate races in West Virginia, the only state with two Senate contests this year.

Democratic managers point next to the other seat in West Virginia, plus Maine, New York, New Jersey, Minnesota, Arizona and Nevada, as states where their candidates should be even bets to replace incumbent Republicans.

GOP leaders falter once they have pointed to Proxmire as a Democrat whom they can unseat. A party split in Wisconsin and a farm revolt against the administration both contributed to Proxmire's victory in a special election last year. Republicans hope that both of those problems are behind them this year.

26 Complete Swim Course

A total of 26 local and area youngsters completed swimming lessons sponsored by the county Red Cross chapter at St. Michael's Boys camp in the Western Maryland Recreation Area in Garrett County.

Miss Maureen Manley of Frostburg taught the youngsters, and the tests were given by Robert Crowe Jr.

Those who passed the swimmer skill test are Burt Mason, 903 National Highway; Robert Barry, Frostburg; Curtiss Graff, James Graff and Dennis Graff, all of RD 1, Boonsboro.

County Health Officer To Attend Conference

Dr. Ton van Strien, Allegany County health officer, was to go to Baltimore today to attend a session of the Local Health Services Subcommittee of the State Health Department.

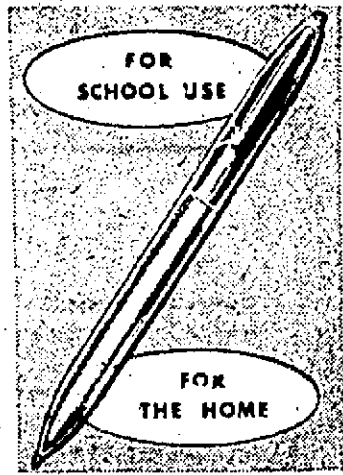

Dr. van Strien and Dr. William Peoples, Montgomery County, will represent the Western Maryland region at the conference.

The six health officers have been meeting each month with four division heads of the State Health Department to discuss local health problems and policies.

Americans May Spend Record Quarter Of Billion Dollars Bowling In The Fall And Winter Season

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — They're making up the teams in the office or factory bowling leagues today for the fall season. And the industry which serves them thinks the new season will top the last when 20 million Americans spent 250 million dollars on the game. The recession has hurt the sport in only a few cities. And industry spokesmen say that what customers they may have lost due to unemployment they have more than replaced by new ones—especially the women—and by long hours of the use of their facilities and by a major move to the over-all investment of the nation's million women bowl, many of them in leagues of their own playing the afternoons.

A report by Business Research Corp. predicts nearly 22 million will bowl during the coming season, compared with 12½ million in 1946.

Counting in what they will pay for fees and equipment and the bowling center proprietors, B.E. Bensing, president of Brunswick-Balke-Collender, bowling equipment maker, says the game will reach the one-billion-mark this season for the first time.

The Women's International Bowling Congress estimates that six million women bowl, many of them in leagues of their own playing the afternoons.

While traditionally the season opens with Labor Day, this summer more bowling arenas than usual stayed open. They report in many arenas report good backlogs of orders.

Some of the new arenas are plush indeed. In addition to the bowling alley — which the industry wishes you'd call lanes—they have restaurants, bars and nurseries. One establishment in Buffalo, N. Y., offers a $2 package for women playing in the daytime, which includes babysitters in a nursery, two hours of bowling with free instruction, and a hot lunch for the mother and children.

Londonberry, Vt., was given its name by homesick arrivals from Londonberry, N. H. It had previously been called Kent.

Church To Construct Shrine At Antietam

HAGERSTOWN (AP) — Members of the Church of the Brethren will attempt to erect a Shrine of Peace at Antietam, scene of one of the Civil War's bloodiest battles.

The Brethren, who abound in this area, will seek to restore a church which stood at the time of the Antietam battle at Sharpsburg.

The church originally was the place of worship of the Dunkers, a religious denomination which refused oaths and military service.

The Church of the Brethren is an offshoot of the Dunkers whose official name was the German Baptist Brethren.

The Dunkers were in church praying when cannon fire around nearby Boonsboro during the Civil War battle of South Mountain disturbed them.

Their church was destroyed by a hail storm after the Civil War.

The Washington County Historical Society bought the land on which it stood and gave it to the federal government in hopes it would restore it as part of the national monument there.

The Church of the Brethren initiated a restoration move since the government has taken no action. It will sponsor a pilgrimage and pageant at the location Sept. 7.

The pageant will highlight peaceful rather than war aspects, including scenes of the Dunkers at church service, the work of nurse Clara Barton and Abraham Lincoln inspecting the battlefield.

The battle at Antietam arose when Confederate Gen. Robert E. Lee crossed the Potomac River Sept. 4 with 50,000 troops. Maj. Gen. George B. McClellan followed and fighting took place Sept. 14 at South Mountain.

Lee dropped back to Antietam creek the next day and was joined by Gen. Thomas J. Jackson from Harpers Ferry.

McClellan attacked Sept. 17, stopped Lee, but failed to call on his reserves and the Confederates escaped across the Potomac.

The United States Army had 70,000 men engaged and 13,000 casualties. The Confederates had 40,000 and lost 8,000.

The 100th anniversary of the battle will be observed in 1962.

Author Says Ike Weak, Indecisive As Leader

By DAYTON MOORE
United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Eisenhower is portrayed by the author of a new book as a weak and indecisive chief executive who has failed to use his powers to deal with various problems.

Marquis Childs, Washington correspondent for the St. Louis Post-Dispatch and United Features Syndicate columnist, is sharply critical of the President in the book, "Eisenhower: Captive Hero."

The tenor of the book is indicated by its subtitle: "A critical study of the General and the President." Childs, who has covered the national scene for years, writes that Eisenhower "must be put down as a weak president... for his failure to use the powers of the office."

Eisenhower's handling of the Little Rock school integration, recession and post-Sputnik problems were credited with resulting in a national attitude of "unease and embarrassment even" toward the President and his administration.

Prisoner of Office
"He appeared more and more as a prisoner of his office, a captive of his own indecisiveness, a captive of the hero-worshipping public, a captive of the agonizing dilemma of an era of nuclear annihilation in which man's old savage instincts lay close to the fragile surface of law and order," Childs said.

Eisenhower's prestige "had all but vanished" in Western Europe by early this year because he had "defaulted on his responsibilities," the author charged.

Childs said Eisenhower wasn't up to unifying and inspiring the nation in the aftermath of Little Rock and the Sputniks because as "the compromiser, the reconciler," he had never had a strong enough sense of mission.

Humphrey Strongest
Former Treasury Secretary George M. Humphrey was credited with being the strongest Cabinet member in the first four years of the Eisenhower administration. Humphrey, "more than any individual, except the President himself, set the tone of the Eisenhower era."

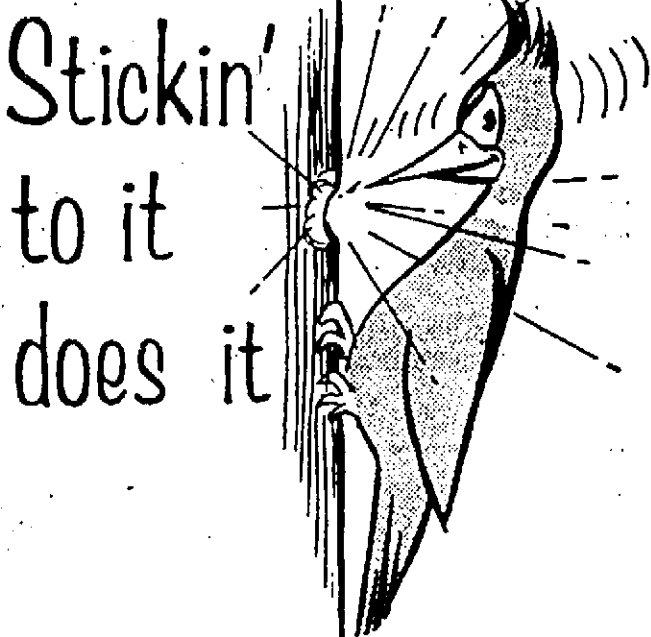

Childs blamed the cutback in military spending before the Sputniks on the Humphrey influence, but criticized Eisenhower for approving it. The President also was criticized for waiting five years to put forward a defense reorganization plan.

As the head of the Republican Party, Eisenhower "has lacked both the knowledge and the capacity to do very much" about making it over, the book said.

The Passion Play has been performed in the small village of Oberammergau, Germany, once every 10 years for 300 years.

Good Season Ahead For Home Viewer

By CHARLES MERCER
NEW YORK (AP) — Louis G. Cowan, president of the CBS Television Network, sees a coming season of good television for the home viewer, a season marked by improved quality in production.

Although speaking chiefly of the outlook for CBS-TV, he says of the industry in general: "There are three networks for sure this year. That's good for the networks, and so it is good for the public. It also should be remembered that the networks are making commitments for the 1958-1959 season just as the nation is beginning to move out of a recession."

The entertainment programming trend on CBS-TV, he says, is to long dramatic shows and programs combining comedy, variety and music.

As a creative force in television and radio, the man who developed "The $64,000 Question" and numerous other popular programs, Cowan is worth listening to.

Using 40 half-hour units as the basis of prime evening viewing time, it turns out that only five will be taken up by quiz and panel game shows on CBS-TV.

"Compare those eight to the proportion of Westerns and adventure stories turned out annually by the movies and book and magazine publishers," said Cowan, "and I think you'll find that our network is producing a smaller proportion."

CBS-TV will be the only network offering an hour or more of drama five nights a week, Cowan pointed out.

"We've built up a tremendous assemblage of writers, producers, technicians and other creative minds," Cowan said. "We've invested millions of dollars over a long period of time in experimentation and the development of new products. I like to think of all this creative effort as the hidden part of the iceberg. Not all of it can be apparent at the moment, but eventually it will be. It is there."

Bay Bridge Use Will Be Promoted

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP)—Travel editors are going to be promoted to promote use of the bridge across Chesapeake Bay.

Editors will be invited to a tour of the bridge and roads leading to it. They will start in Annapolis on Oct. 14 and spend two days on the tour of Maryland's Eastern Shore to Delaware.

The Chesapeake Bay Bridge Assn. voted to sponsor the tour yesterday. The association is composed of owners of motels and gasoline stations along U.S. 50 and Maryland 71 which lead to the bridge.

The businessmen are concerned over a decline in motor vehicle use of the span.

Joseph Molinaro, president, reported that July figures on Route 71 show a traffic decline of 40 per cent from last year.

Some of the blame is being put on a new harbor tunnel, which allows Baltimore City to be bypassed.

Magistrate Morris Baron sentenced Franklin A. Stott, 19, of 183 McCulloh Street, to 10 days and John Thomas Stott, 17, of 10 Taylor Street, to 30 days.

The magistrate said he reduced the sentence for the former youth so he could report back on time from his Army leave. The charges, he said, resulted from a squabble in which a shot was fired.

Institute To Improve Math Teaching Planned

BALTIMORE (AP)—An institute to improve the teaching of mathematics in high schools will be held at Johns Hopkins University during the coming academic year.

Fifty teachers of science and mathematics in Maryland secondary schools will be chosen to attend the institute, which will comprise 30 meetings on Saturday mornings.

The university has sent announcements and application forms to principals of 184 secondary schools in Baltimore and various counties.

Dr. Milton S. Eisenhower, president of the university, said one of the special aims of the course is to demonstrate better ways to teach the relation of mathematics to other sciences.

The institute will be directed by Dr. George Owen, associate professor of physics at Hopkins. Classes will be taught by Hopkins scientists distinguished in mathematics, chemistry, biology, physics, engineering, earth sciences and other fields.

Eisenhower said the institute is being financed by a $50,000 grant from the Esso Education Foundation. All tuitions will be paid and each teacher will receive $250 to defray personal and traveling expenses.

Teachers who successfully complete the course will receive six credits toward advanced academic degrees.

The toothpaste tube was invented in 1892 by Dr. Worthington Sheffield, a dentist.

Kiwanis To Hear Native Of Ireland

For the second successive week the Cumberland Kiwanis Club will hear a newcomer to the medical profession in Cumberland when Dr. Robert Faddis speaks of his native Ireland at the meeting which starts at 12:15 p. m. tomorrow at Central YMCA.

Last week Dr. Abdul Hashim, a native of Iraq, who is a pediatrician here, discussed the Middle East.

A report will be made on the Kiwanis Club's sale of peanuts at the Cumberland Fair all last week. Some 24 members of the club assisted in the sale and they sold some 2,100 bags of peanuts for the benefit of two major Kiwanis boys and girls projects, Sunshine Camp and the Kiwanis team in the Hot Stove League.

Beall Reports Canal Still His Number One Project

United States Senator J. Glenn Beall said yesterday that the fight for the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal National Historical Park will go on.

"It will be my No. 1 bill next year," the Senator announced here yesterday.

The canal park plan has been Sen. Beall's No. 1 project for Western Maryland for almost a decade.

He said the lack of action in Congress again this year was very discouraging, adding that "now that the people of the East want it, the people in the West oppose it."

The plan to get the bill through Congress was defeated this year, he said, by public power advocates.

The Senate has twice passed the bill to create the 164-mile C&O Canal Park including a scenic highway overlooking the waterway from Paw Paw to Woodmont.

Last year, the Senate gave approval too late for the House to act. This year, Senate action came early enough, but the bill was bottled up by a House subcommittee headed by Rep. Gracie Pfoz (D-Idaho), in spite of efforts of Rep. DeWitt S. Hyde, (R-Md. 6).

School Board Names Three More Teachers

Three more teachers have been appointed to schools in Allegany County by the Board of Education.

Miss Grace L. Nagle, 310 Washington Street, will teach at Columbia Street School in the 1958-59 school year. A 1954 graduate of Allegany High School, she was graduated in June from Frostburg State Teachers College.

Mrs. Mildred O. Russell, 1 Glenview Drive, LaVale, will teach first and second graders at Elerslie School when the new term begins. Mrs. Russell attended Concord College, Athens, W. Va., and was graduated in June from Frostburg State Teachers College. The mother of three daughters, Mrs. Russell previously taught in the county school system. She was at Pennsylvania Avenue School for one year and taught five years at LaVale School.

Mrs. Alice T. Harris, 860 Gehart Drive, has been appointed to teach at Oldtown Elementary School. A graduate of Slippery Rock (Pa.) State Teachers College, Mrs. Harris taught previously from 1940 until 1946. She was at Canonsburg, Pa., from 1940 until 1942 and at Oldtown from 1942 until 1946.

20 Firemen Will Attend Short Course

About 20 volunteer firemen of Allegany and Garrett counties plan to attend the 25th Annual Short Course for Firemen next week at the University of Maryland, College Park.

Cromwell Zembower of LaVale, a member of the firemen's training committee of the Maryland State Firemen's Association, will conduct one of the sessions.

He will be among past presidents of the association who will be honored at a dinner. Zembower's wife, Mrs. Elizabeth Zembower, who is president of the Maryland State Firemen's Auxiliary, will accompany him.

The course, being sponsored by the Fire Service Extension of the University under the direction of Robert C. Byrns, will begin Tuesday, September 2, with registration at 8 a. m. At 9:30 a. m. the sessions will begin in the auditorium of the Fire Service Extension Building.

Invocation by Rev. James W. Minter, chaplain of the association, will be followed by a welcome to the university by Dean Frederick T. Mavis, College of Engineering. A response will be by Howard B. Springer, president of the firemen's association.

Use of gas masks, fighting structural fires, fighting flammable liquid fires, handling rescue emergencies, officer training and practical demonstrations will be taught during the four-day course.

On Thursday morning, Mr. Zembower will instruct these attending class on the proper way to conduct better meetings, which includes any type meeting.

Pre-planning a meeting and lining up a program will be stressed by Zembower who will outline business meetings as well as open house meetings and field days.

The dinner will be held on Thursday, September 4. Remarks will be made by J. Millard Taves, past president of the association. "Maryland Football 1958 Style" will be outlined by Coach Tommy Mont.

Officials Plan Appeal Move

LEONARDTOWN, Md. (AP) — St. Mary's County school officials moved today to appeal a Federal Court order directing them to desegregate Great Mills High School.

Robert King, county school superintendent, said the board of education was expected to decide whether to appeal a court ruling that a Negro girl must be admitted to the high school when it opens Sept. 4.

"We are moving in that direction," King said when asked whether he expected the board to seek reversal of the ruling by Judge Roszel C. Thomsen.

The board earlier had adopted a policy of integrating elementary schools last year, junior high schools this year and high schools next year. No applications were received last year from Negro pupils seeking transfer to previously all-white schools.

The board had approved the enrollment of Thomas Conrad Groves, Negro, in the junior high section of the Great Mills school this year. Thomsen's decision directed that the board also admit the boy's sister, Joan Elaine Groves to the high school section.

Receivers Named For Bus Company

Judge Morgan C. Harris in Allegany County Circuit Court this morning passed a decree for the appointment of receivers for the Cumberland Transit Lines, Inc.

The decree appoints Henry W. Price, retired district manager of the Potomac Edison Company, and Guy M. Davis, president of the bus company, as receivers on the transit line with the power and authority to take charge, control and possession of all the property belonging to the corporation.

Temperature Drops Below 40 In Sector

The temperatures dropped sharply during the night in this tri-state section with at least one reading falling below 40 degrees.

New Germany's official weather Bureau station recorded 37 degrees this morning to be the area's low.

Deal, Pa. at the top of Little Savage Mountain had 40 degrees while Oakland had 42 degrees.

LaVale reported 44 degrees, Cumberland 47 degrees, and only enough, Frostburg had a 50-degree minimum overnight temperature.

Oakland had a heavy fog early today as did other parts of the tri-state area.

The low readings found many workers shivering as they got on their way to their jobs early this morning.

And the Weather Bureau forecast for Allegany and Garrett counties calls for little change in the temperatures.

The low tonight is to be in the 40s in the mountains, and from 46 to 53 degrees in other spots.

Friday is to be warmer with showers likely by afternoon or night.

The past three days of little or no rain is helping farmers get their hay into the barns. This summer has been particularly bad for hay, with much of it rotting in the fields when the rains delayed its curing.

North George Street Made Wider By City

The first block of North George Street has been widened to improve the traffic situation in that end of the business section, John J. Long, commissioner of streets and public property, announced today.

The pavement on the west side of the street, located next to the G. C. Murphy Store, had to be replaced during the extensive construction work on the Murphy property.

When Police Chief R. E. Flynn learned there was to be a new sidewalk, he approached City Engineer C. R. Nuzum on the possibilities of narrowing the walkway by 18 inches.

George Street is rather narrow at this point and southbound trucks have difficulty in making right turns onto Baltimore Street's west lane.

The Mayor and Council agreed to pay the cost of the 18-inch width of black top.

The curb at the west corner of the intersection of Baltimore and North George Streets was also moved back to allow trucks and autos to make the turn onto Baltimore Street easier.

The city has been undergoing a long-range program of narrowing sidewalks where advisable to provide for wider streets.

Man Appeals 6-Month Term

An inmate of the Allegany County Jail, sentenced to a six-month term, will be given an appeal from the Trial Magistrate's Court decision tomorrow at 1:30 p. m. in Allegany County Circuit Court.

Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris said the immediate hearing was requested by Eugene Oldaker who was given the six-month term in the House of Correction on August 18 by Magistrate Morris Baron.

In his petition to Chief Judge Harris, Oldaker said he admitted being guilty to a charge of being drunk on a public street.

But he claimed Magistrate Baron sentenced him on an habitual drunkard charge. "Theoretically," Oldaker maintained, "this could be a mistrial."

Hearing Planned On Theft Charge

A local man was scheduled for a hearing this afternoon in Trial Magistrate's Court in connection with the theft of city property.

Sgt. James Brown apprehended the man, Roy Dolly, Williams Road, early this morning. Police found four lanterns owned by the City of Cumberland in his pickup truck.

Police said the lanterns had been taken from Maryland Avenue where city workers were repairing the street.

Local Girl Injured

Joyce Ann Johnson, nine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Johnson, 401 Decatur Street, was admitted to Sacred Heart Hospital yesterday afternoon.

Attaches said the child sustained a fracture of her right arm in a fall from her bicycle.

The law firm of Gunter and Geppert had filed a bill of complaint in behalf of Guy M. Davis and Marie E. Davis pointing out that the Cumberland Transit Lines for some time past, because of the large reduction in passenger travel over the bus lines, has been unable to earn its operating expenses and fixed charges.

Others in Trouble

Transit companies throughout the nation have been running into financial problems for a number of years. Only this week the Salisbury Transit Company of nearby Salisbury, Md., was purchased by the city of Salisbury for $7,375.

The Salisbury company had been losing money steadily for several years, and was granted permission to discontinue business by the Public Service Commission.

The bill stated that the plaintiffs are the owners of all the common stock of said corporation and filed the petition for the appointment of receivers of said corporation.

The bill further stated that a balance sheet of the corporation as of May 31, 1958 showed assets of $49,369.13 and liabilities of $73,859.56.

The bill also stated that said defendant corporation has no money with which to pay its current expenses and to pay the necessary costs in the maintenance and operation of its buses, which travel within the city limits of Cumberland, Bowman's Addition, to the State Line and to Cresaptown.

Lossing Long Period

The bill of complaint also stated that the corporation has for a long period of time been operating at a loss, the loss becoming greater from month to month.

At a special meeting of the directors of the company Monday a resolution was adopted instructing its attorney, William C. Walsh, to file an answer in the receivership proceedings consenting to the passage of a decree for the appointment of receivers, and to incorporate in said answer a request that the receivers interest of all parties concerned be authorized to operate the business of the corporation for a reasonable length of time.

In the answer to the bill of complaint, Walsh stated that upon the appointment of a receiver by the court if "it is compelled to cease operations, such action would be greatly detrimental to all parties interested financially in it, as well as to the public at large."

Walsh pointed out that the company transports approximately 3,000 passengers daily, except on Saturdays when the number is approximately 2,000, and on Sundays when the number is approximately 150.

Firm Insolvent

Walsh also pointed out that within the next week the company will be called upon to transport between 650 and 700 school children, and that it expects to transport a large number of passengers to and from the Cumberland Race Track for the annual race meet.

Judge Harris said in his decree "It appears to the court that the defendant is insolvent and without funds to pay its operating expenses, and unable upon its own resources to borrow the same, the complainants are entitled to the relief prayed for in the bill of complaint."

"It is thereupon adjudged that Henry W. Price and Guy M. Davis be appointed receivers of the said Cumberland Transit Lines. It further appears to the court that it is to the best interests and advantage of the traveling public, creditors and stockholders of the company, that the company be operated as a going concern and authorizes the receivers to operate its buses over its present franchise route.

John R. Foley, Democratic nominee for Congress in Maryland's Sixth District, last night opened his campaign with an attack of the Eisenhower administration and his opponent.

At the formal opening of his headquarters in Wheaton, Foley charged the administration and Rep. DeWitt S. Hyde, the Republican incumbent, with the responsibility for six years of backward movement.

Federal aid to education, recession and inflation, foreign policy failures and Potomac River development are the most important issues facing the Sixth District, he said. These issues will be discussed with "no mud-slinging, no innuendoes, no vendettas" during the campaign, he declared.

SCHOOL BUS CHECKED—The Allegany County Board of Education today wound up three days of inspecting the many school buses that will carry students to classes next week. Above at Midlothian this morning Wallace Walker, mechanic, is checking the front wheel of the bus owned and operated during the school year by Lester Chapman, right. Second from right is Arthur G. Ramey, supervisor of bus transportation for the Board of Education. The lad in the picture is Chapman's grandson. All mechanical defects uncovered by Walker and Ramey must be corrected before the bus can be used. Approximately 7,000 of the Allegany County school enrollment of 16,000 go to classes in buses each day.

New Section To Be Open

The newest section of what will be an all-new G. C. Murphy Company store on Baltimore Street will open tomorrow morning, according to M. D. Specht, manager.

The new restaurant will open for service at 7:30 a. m. and the store section at the regular hour of 9 a. m.

Opening of the new store section will mark completion of the first phase of the remodeling program.

Demolition work started January 6 by removing the old Woolworth Store and erecting a new building. This consists of a new building space with the all-new restaurant of 41 stools and five tables with a total seating capacity of 61. All food prepared in the restaurant is cooked on all-electric cooking equipment in full view of patrons.

Additional selling space consists of new-type wall counters and lower counters. Some of the latter are set back for easier merchandising and some are of the new gondola type. There are also permanent quick service stations for faster service. The store has see-thru windows for a view from front to back.

Back and side entrances are provided near parking lots for convenience of patrons. All new lighting, air conditioning have been installed and an exciting color scheme used in decorations.

The second floor will consist of offices, salesladies' rest room, lounge and public rest rooms. The present second floor sales room will be remodeled in another phase of the work.

After Thursday's pre-opening, the next phase of the remodeling of RD 1, Flintstone, died last night in Memorial Hospital where he was admitted August 13. The body is at the Zeigler Funeral Home in Hyndman.

Navy Facility Outlined By Rep. Staggers

Explains Reasons For Sugar Grove, Green Bank Sites

Condemnation proceedings have been filed in U. S. District Court at Fairmont, W. Va., for 1,650 acres of land to be used as a site for a Navy radio communications facility to be constructed at Sugar Grove, Pendleton County.

Because of the considerable interest resulting from the Navy's announcement of the project which is just 30 miles from the site of the National Science Foundation's Radio Astronomy Observatory at Green Bank, several times the new project has been referred to by members of Congress as a "boondoggle" that will duplicate the work of the Green Bank laboratory.

Representative Harley O. Staggers of West Virginia, one of the prime backers of the two facilities and their locations in that area of the state, explains why both facilities are necessary.

According to Staggers the original concept of the first project, the National Radio Astronomy Facility at Green Bank, grew out of two conferences held in 1954, the first under the sponsorship of the National Science Foundation, the

Brawley New Council Head

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The West Virginia Council on Education has elected Harry M. Brawley of Charleston as its new president and set Sept. 29 as the date for its annual general meeting here.

Brawley, public service director for a Charleston television station, succeeds Carroll Green of Charleston as president.

Other officers elected at a meeting here Monday were Miles C. Stanley, president of the state AFL-CIO, as vice president and Phares E. Reeder, executive secretary of the State Education Assn., as secretary.

The council is composed of representatives from business, labor, civic, professional and farm groups. Its objectives include working for public agreement on school needs, promoting an improved school program and obtaining necessary legislative and local support for schools.

City Corporation Tax Bills Mailed

A special effort is being made by the City of Cumberland to get corporation tax bills out as early as possible, according to Arthur B. Gibson, city auditor.

He explained that many corporations inquire constantly about their tax bills, as they are anxious to know the assessment and amount so they can adjust tax accounts which generally have been anticipated by reserves set up for that purpose.

The city is happy to oblige this time of the year, as the funds help tide the city over until real estate taxes begin to come in late in September.

Early this week, the city received certifications of assessments on the personal property of 134 corporations. About $150,000 of tax money is represented.

Gibson said all of the bills were tabulated yesterday afternoon and turned over to the City Collector for mailing.

Bills for real estate and personal property of individuals, some 12,700 of them, are being prepared and will be mailed by September 20.

Man Critical
Robert W. Ruddle, 25, Franklin, W. Va., remains in critical condition at Davis Memorial Hospital, Elkins, where he was admitted last Saturday night following a highway accident.

Injured in the same accident were Bobby Glen Simmons, 18, of Franklin, and James Campbell, 20, Staunton, Va.

West Virginia State Police said the three were among a five who were riding in a car enroute to the Canaan Valley. Police said the vehicle left the highway and crashed into a bank.

Navy Facility
and assistant chief of Naval Research, when asked about duplication of effort between the two facilities, told the Appropriations Committee:

"Will Not Conflict"
"Application of the spare time of the instrument to radio astronomy will not conflict with or be a duplication of effort with any other facility and will insure a maximum return from the investment."

J. H. Rrexler, radio communications engineer, Naval Research Laboratory, offered this explanation:

"The Navy's equipment is primarily intended to handle Navy problems, which are not following stars through the sky."

Lloyd V. Berkner, president of Associated Universities, Inc., said:

"When it became apparent that, for the same reasons we located in the West Virginia area, it would also be advisable for the Navy to locate there, we wanted to be sure that no interference would occur between the two projects."

Important To Economy
In addition, Stagers listed the vital importance to the economy of the West Virginia district. The total projected cost of the National Science Foundation's facility is set at $9,530,000. The Sugar Grove project will come to about $78 million, including $58 million for the instruments and its erection, $7 million for support facilities and $14 million for the development and procurement of electronic instrumentation.

The NSF facility will require about 71 scientists and technicians for its operation. Sugar Grove will employ more than 500 persons.

Both will likely become tourist attractions and have tremendous publicity value to West Virginia and bring considerably more prestige to the district and the entire state, concluded Stagers.

PORT AUX BASQUE, Nfld. (UPI) — Thousands turned out along the waterfront Tuesday to cheer a ferry. Ship whistles sounded and car horns blared.

The Canadian National Railway's ferry, William Carson, finally had arrived—more than three years late.

She said the group did not plan to go to another store "at this time."

Girls' Titles In City Net Play Decided

One championship remains to be decided in the junior tennis tournament sponsored by the City Recreation Department, the boys' doubles final being scheduled for Sunday at the North End courts. Principals will be Jay Kaplan and Jack Cook against Bill Brown and Matt Coffey.

Brown won the boys' singles in the 16 to 18-year age bracket by turning back Jay Kaplan, 6-3 and 6-2. Carroll Will copped the 14-15 title with a 6-0, 6-1 conquest of Steve Kornblatt and Allan Kaplan was victorious in the 12-13 group by conquering Greg Skidmore, 6-0, 6-1.

Final results in the girls' singles found Cheryl Pence taking the 12-13 title with a 6-3, 6-2 victory over Frances Berry, Sandy Roeder copping the 14-15 crown by forfeit over Kitty Koegel and Carol Dunlap winning 16-18 honors unopposed.

In the girls' doubles Sandy Roeder and Sharon Kasecamp defeated Carol Dunlap and Polly Kessler.

The tourney was held under the direction of Bob Pence and Dave LaFon.

Burdette's Win 9th In 7 Weeks

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Lew Burdette, following his 1957 pattern of a slow start and a fast spurt into World Series stardom, won his ninth game in seven weeks Tuesday.

That kicked the San Francisco Giants, his 7-3 victims, nine games behind Burdette's National League leading Milwaukee Braves.

And it submerged Giants manager Bill Rigney in such gloom that he would say only:

"This club is going to have to wake up."

Before Milwaukee came to town, Rigney had foreseen possibly four Giant victories in the five game series. After three games, the Braves lead 3-0.

Burdette has won 15 games this season — nine of them since the All Star game July 8 — and 190 since his first NL victory in 1952.

Milwaukee's victory was built on Burdette's six hit pitching and 17 hits including two solo homers by Eddie Mathews and one each by Del Crandall and Wes Covington.

Rice Wins CCC Caddy Tourney

Marvin Rice defeated Pete Cross, 10 and 8, to win the Cumberland Country Club's caddy tournament yesterday on the local course.

Rice advanced to yesterday's finals by downing defending champion Leo Kennell in a semi-final match.

Vince Martin defeated Kenny Kemp in first flight finals and George Kelso captured the third flight title by defeating John Harclerode.

Mrs. William Carscaden and Mrs. Edith Spoerl won the straight handicap tournament held at the CCC yesterday by the Women's Golf Association.

Mrs. Carscaden paced the group A field with a net score of 104-31-73 while Mrs. Spoerl led Group B with a net 122-42-83.

Sheetz, who had a 14-3 record for the regular season, was in trouble again in the seventh when he walked Clay Ingram with one out and Thompson followed with a single. But Frye hoisted an infield pop to George Geatz and Ronnie Ingram looked at a third strike to end the game.

The Casey runners on first and second with one away in the second but failed to score as Thompson prevented both Chug Aman and Steiner from getting the ball out of the infield. In the fourth McGreevy got to third with only one out but Sheetz whiffed and Norm Geatz flied to left.

Snider was the only player to get more than one hit, his pair of singles coming in three trips to the plate.

Aussies Rule Favorites In U. S. Singles

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (UPI)—The draw and seedings for the United States men's singles championship opening here Friday made Australia's tennis stars stronger favorites to win the title for the third straight year.

The U.S. Lawn Tennis Association virtually sabotaged itself and Vic Seixas, its most experienced tournament player, by refusing to seed him because he hasn't played in any major tournaments this year.

That move left the Philadelphia star at the mercy of Tuesday's draw and he drew Kurt Nielsen, two-time Wimbledon finalist from Denmark, in the first round.

Seixas will meet Nielsen, who has been playing in top-notch tournaments for months, before he gets a chance to warm up against an easier opponent.

The luck of the draw dealt U.S. hopes another blow when six of its best players wound up in the same quarter. Ham Richardson, third seeded, from Arlington, Va., and Barry MacKay, fifth seeded from Dayton, Ohio, landed together in the fourth quarter with Sammy Giammalva of Houston, Tex., Herb Flam of Beverly Hills, Calif., John Cranston of San Marino, Calif., and Earl Buchholz, national junior champion from St. Louis.

Mal Anderson, the Aussie cowboy who last year became the first unseeded player to win the U.S. men's title, is seeded No. 1 and heads the lower half of the draw. His first opponent will be Bob Perry of Los Angeles. Ashley Cooper, the Wimbledon champion who lost to Anderson in last year's all-Australian final here, is seeded No. 2 and opens against Gordon Davis of Santa Monica, Calif.

14-Year-Old Lad Qualifies For Amateur

By United Press International
Jerry Pittman and George Boutell, a pair of "boy wonders" from the Southwest, and Don Bisplinghoff of Miami Beach, Fla., posted the most impressive scores Tuesday in the sectional qualifying rounds for the 1958 National Amateur golf championship.

Pittman, 21, of Tulsa, Okla., led all qualifiers with an eye-opening 36-hole total of 135, while Boutell, only 14, was the youngest player to earn a berth in the championship flight at San Francisco's Olympic Country Club, Sept. 8-13. Bisplinghoff, four-time Florida champion, bagged eight birdies as he led the Jacksonville section with a 68-69-137.

Most of the qualifying rounds were played in rainy weather, producing unusually high scores in some sections.

Playing over the Southern Hills Country Club course in Tulsa, Pittman picked up seven birdies, and one eagle while posting cards of 68 and 67.

The temperature hit 110 degrees at Phoenix, Ariz., but it didn't slow down young Boutell, who had a 70-74-144.

Frank Strafaci, now playing out of Miami Beach, failed to make the grade when he posted a 149 at Jacksonville.

In addition to Strafaci, other "name" golfers who missed the boat to San Francisco were Tim Holland of Rockville Centre, N.Y., former Walker Cupper Jimmy McHale of Philadelphia, and Big Ten Conference champion John Konek.

Crooner Don Cherry, who now plays out of the Garden City, N.Y., Country Club, led the New York qualifiers with a 72-70-142.

Other prominent golfers who qualified were Bill Campbell of Huntington, W. Va., Chuck Kocis of Royal Oak, Mich., Gene Andrews of Whittier, Calif., Jack Nicklaus of Columbus, Ohio, Gene Dahlbender of Atlanta, Dick Chapman Jr. of Ostrerville, Mass., and Ed Meister Jr., of Willoughby, Ohio.

Lt. Hillman Robbins Jr., of Memphis, Tenn., the 1957 amateur champion, was exempt from qualifying along with other members of the U.S. Canadian and Mexican American Cup squads.

The regional qualifying will be completed today when 99 entries vie for 11 berths at Chicago.

Player Of Day Roberts Winking At 20-Win Year

By United Press International
They used to whisper he was "too nice a guy" for his own good, and last year they whispered he might be "washed up," but now Robin Roberts of the Phillies has a fighting chance for his seventh 20-victory season.

Roberts marked up win No. 14 Tuesday with a typical four-hit performance that downed the Chicago Cubs, 10-3, at Chicago.

What's more, he aided his own cause with a three-run triple that highlighted a six-run rally in the fifth inning that clinched the game.

Roberts, who disdains the "brush-back" pitch on which many other hurlers rely, had a poor start, giving up three runs in the first inning, including a two-run homer by Walt Moryn—one of the numerous "gopher balls" that have bothered Roberts. But after that he allowed only two hits the rest of the way.

The Phillie ace, now 31, won 20 or more games for six straight years from 1950 through 1955. He just missed with 19 the following year and had a 10-22 mark last year. But he's battling back along the glory road.

Haney Taking No Credit For Braves' Lead

One of a series
By JOE REICHLER
MILWAUKEE (AP)—Fred Haney is not a miracle man. He does not claim to be. He thinks he is a good manager although he refuses to take credit for Milwaukee's success this year and last.

By the same token, the 60-year-old California didn't accept the charges made against him after the Braves' fadeout in 1956. "That he was managing 'scared,' that his strategy was self-defeating, nervous, by-the-book, that he bunted the Braves into second place.

Players Do It
"I'd like to think I'm a miracle man," Haney said, "but let's face it. I've had little to do with our being in first place. The players have done it themselves."

Miracle man or not, Haney has his Braves playing good, hustling ball and in first place. It is true the Braves were expected to breeze to their second straight pennant, but nobody expected the Braves to encounter as many injuries as they have.

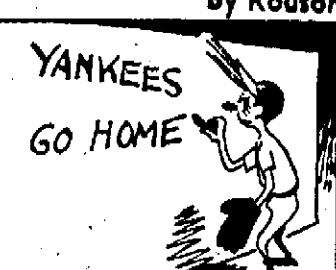

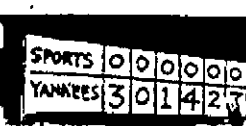

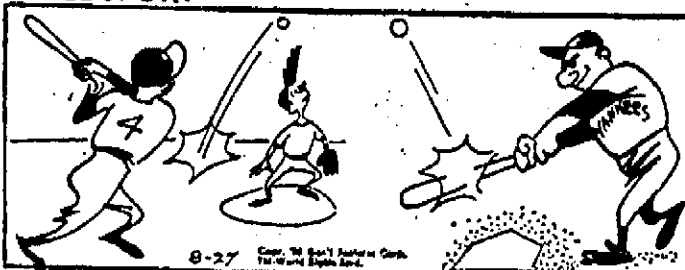

Second baseman Red Schoendienst has missed half the season. Outfielders Wes Covington and Billy Bruton, have been in and out of the line-up. Pitcher Bob Buhl is completely out of action. Other lesser lights have been forced out of the line-up.

Alterations Everywhere
Yet the Braves managed to stay in contention all the way. It was the hitting, pitching and fielding of the players that won the games but it was Haney who did the manipulating.

"He made alterations everywhere in the line-up. He used infielders in the outfield and inexperienced youngsters in the infield. He made unusually good use of the bunt, the stolen base and the squeeze play.

"So Haney must be partly responsible for the Braves' success just as he may have been partly responsible for their failure in '56. "I believe the big difference is confidence," he said, "I have confidence in them and they have confidence in me."

Frosburg Rotary Downs Eagles, 10-4

Rotary Club defeated the Republican Club in a Frosburg Little League game yesterday by the score of 10-4 with the pitching of Nick Edwards and the hitting of Doug Skidmore featuring the victory.

Skidmore walloped a pair of circuit smashes, including a grand slam homer, and batted in seven runs. Edwards toiled the distance on the mound for the winners and limited the Republicans to seven hits, two of which were credited to Danny Muir.

Edwards struck five. In a Monday doubleheader the Orioles turned back the Eagles, 5-0, and Elks won over the Republicans, 2-1.

High-Flying Orioles Prove That Walk Is Good As Hit

BALTIMORE (AP)—The old sandlot cry "a walk's as good as a hit" applies equally well to major league baseball. A walk issued by Cleveland's Don Ferrarese with the bases loaded and two out ended a tense, 12-inning pitching duel last night and gave Baltimore a 1-0 victory.

It was an unfortunate ending for Ferrarese, the 29-year-old southpaw who once was an Oriole. He allowed only six hits, two of them in the regulation nine innings.

But Baltimore's Hal Brown, who allowed nine hits, was confronted with fewer threats than Ferrarese (thanks to a fine defense featuring catcher Gus Triandos who threw out three Indians attempting to steal second base.

The victory was the 13th in 18 games for the Orioles, who tightened their fourth place grip to 1½ games over Detroit and moved to within 2½ games of third place Boston.

Ferrarese was whacked on the pitching hand twice in the final inning and the blows may have had some effect on his control, although he walked five other batters before the fatal one which forced in the game's only run.

Billy Gardner singled with one out in the 12th and moved to second when Ferrarese snared Foster's Castelman's hard smash bare-handed and threw him out. Bob Boyd then batted for Brown and walked and Busby beat out a hit off the pitcher's left hand to load the bases.

Ferrarese's hand was inspected by Manager Joe Gordon and the Indians' trainer, but he stayed in the game. He threw three straight balls to Dick Williams, then a strike, and finally the fourth ball. Brown walked one and allowed only one base runner to reach second as he upped his record to 6-3. The only serious threat came in

In the Expert B division, William Burkey, also of the Cumberland Bowhunters, was the winner while Jamison recorded the day's only "double" by winning the Bowman's match for men. Mary Sorg, of Hagerstown's Creek Wal-

Other winners and their clubs were as follows:

State Legion Champs Win

ELKTON, Md. (AP)—Washington, D. C., met neighboring Greenbelt, Md., today in the finals of the Region 3 American Legion Junior Baseball Tournament.

If Greenbelt is the winner the tournament is over. If it loses, a second game—and the final one—is scheduled 20 minutes later.

In semi-final action yesterday, Washington defeated Wilmington, Del., 5-3 and Weirton, W. Va., 6-2 while Greenbelt also defeated Weirton, 4-3.

Greenbelt was the only undefeated team remaining after yesterday's action in the tournament, twice delayed by rain, that began Saturday.

In Washington's victory over Wilmington, John Lewis combined pitching duties with Bob McCarthy and drove in the winning run during a three-run rally in the sixth inning. Johnny Gills doubled in two runs for Wilmington in the second to tie the score.

Weirton batters could get only three hits off Mike Southcomb, who took the mound for Washington's second game. The West Virginians scored two runs off him in the first but Washington came right back in its half of the inning with four runs on two walks, two errors and two singles. Weirton lost to Greenbelt despite the heroics of pitcher Mike Tomasovich. Besides going all the way on the mound, Tomasovich singled home Jack Hedmond for one run and socked a 395-foot homer for two more.

A's To Continue Dealing With Yanks, Says Craft

NEW YORK (AP)—Manager Harry Craft of the Kansas City A's scowled.

He had been asked the same question dozens of times and it was beginning to grate on his nerves.

How long were the A's going to supply the New York Yankees with players?

"We'll keep dealing with them as long as we think it's helping us," he answered.

Last week, the A's dealt Murry Dickson, an aging pitcher, to the Yanks in another of a long series of deals.

"Dickson is an old pro," Craft explained patiently. "But he's getting old and we feel we're not going to win the pennant. (The A's are 21 games behind the Yanks, who beat them 6-2 Tuesday night.

"So we're going to try to build up for next year. We're going to get a pretty good young player from the Yanks when the season is over. I have my pick from two or three. We'll get a good one, you can be sure of that."

As for the bartering with the Yanks: "Our dealings with them have been the backbone of our rebuilding program. We used many of the players we obtained from the Yanks in other deals and we're stronger for it."

Craft denied that there was any dissension on the club because he got rid of Dickson, a winning pitcher.

"The fans are annoyed," he admitted, "because Murry comes from Leavenworth, which is just 27 miles from Kansas City. But that's as far as it goes."

Brochure For Trio Region Counties Out

CHARLESTON—Publication of a revised Eastern Panhandle brochure by the Industrial and Publicity Commission of West Virginia has been announced by Don Crisp, executive director.

The 16-page folder is devoted entirely to the three counties of Morgan, Berkeley and Jefferson. Such historic old towns as Martinsburg, Berkeley Springs, Shepherdstown, Charles Town and Harpers Ferry are featured. The folder also includes information on Cacapon State Park and Sleepy Creek Public Hunting Area. Words and pictures describe these and other historic, scenic and recreational spots. A large map shows the location of each. This region, once the property of Lord Fairfax, was known by, and popular with, George Washington and his family, Thomas Jefferson and other Colonial notables. It was the scene of the notorious John Brown anti-slavery raid and subsequent trial and execution. During the Civil War, the area was a bloody battleground.

Copies of the brochure may be obtained on request to the West Virginia Industrial and Publicity Commission, State Capitol Building, Charleston.

Police Head Said Unfair In Treatment

Legislative Group Hears Testimony In Transfer Case

By JERRY GOULD
CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—A legislative interim committee was told Tuesday by former State Police Sgt. E. D. Bazzie that Supt. Hazen H. Fair was "ruthless" in having him transferred and demoted before Bazzie resigned from the force this summer.

During questioning at a hearing into operations of the State Police, Bazzie said he felt his troubles, including two transfers and the demotion within a two-month period, had their beginning with a beer tavern raid he led in 1955.

Following Bazzie's testimony, Fair was asked if he wanted to offer rebuttal. But the State Police head declined to go into the case, saying he thought it was "ridiculous that this committee sit here and listen to statements made by Bazzie—statements that are far from true."

Morale Questioned
Several other officers of the department were questioned by committee members. Most of their testimony concerned their personal views on procedures and morale within the force.

The session was open to newsman although Gov. Cecil H. Underwood had requested that the State Police operations be taken up at a closed session. He thought the force's effectiveness would be weakened in some of its investigating methods were publicized.

However, committee co-chairman Ralph J. Bean (D-Hardy) said such was not the case and that the public was entitled to know how the department operates.

The committee virtually passed Hopewell Sanatorium among items on its agenda. Bean had hinted earlier this summer of possible irregularities at the Preston County institution.

But a recent visit by Bean and some other interim committee members to Hopewell apparently satisfied them that there was nothing major amiss. Bean did mention that there might be too many employees in ratio to patients and that some employees appeared to be dissatisfied.

After the department of Public Safety's five captains — four of them commanders of the State Police companies in the state — had been questioned by committee members, co-chairman Harry Pauley (D-McDowell), newly-elected House speaker, called on Bazzie.

News Story Factor
Pauley asked Bazzie if he thought he had been fairly dealt with. Bazzie said he did not, and later said "I think Fair was ruthless in my case."

He said he was transferred from Princeton to South Charleston some 10 days after a story appeared in a Bluefield newspaper saying that he (Bazzie) was to be a Democratic candidate for sheriff of Mercer County.

The story was written by Virgil L. Currence, Republican newspaper editor who Bazzie said was the owner of the tavern raided in 1955.

Bazzie said he was led by Fair to believe that the transfer would result in a promotion. Later he said he asked for a transfer to and detachment as close to his Princeton home as possible. The day afterward, he said, he received transfer orders to Elkins where there was no vacancy for sergeant, resulting in his demotion to trooper. Bazzie said he did not voluntarily accept the transfer and demotion.

Stories Differ
Fair said at the time Bazzie asked for transfer from South Charleston for health reasons and realized there was no sergeantcy opening at Elkins.

Asked about allegations that he helped distribute Democratic campaign posters in Mercer County in 1956, Bazzie said, "If that was true, I should have been fired."

Bazzie said he thought the department was hampered by "politics" as well as insufficient personnel and equipment. He said he felt remarks by some of the captains before his testimony were "guarded" because they were "speaking in front of the superintendent or feared possible disciplinary action."

He said the morale of the department "is very low from the brass down whether they want to admit it or not."

Some of the captains said they felt members of the force should be given more security in their jobs and agreed that more men were needed.

Bean invited the State Police to present any proposals for changes in regulations at the committee's next meeting here Sept. 29-30.

Joint School Schedule For Hyndman Area Announced

HYNDMAN — The Hyndman-Londonderry joint schools will open Tuesday, September 2, according to L. G. Keller, supervising principal.

High school classes will start each day at 8:30 a. m., Keller said, while elementary classes will begin 15 minutes later. The school bus schedule will run 15 minutes earlier than in previous years, he noted.

The advance in the bus schedule has become a necessity because of the addition of extra courses in the high school demanded by the State Board of Education. Keller explained that the seventh and eighth grade courses, as have some extra courses in basic English.

The new primary school building will not be ready for occupancy in time for the opening of school, and students of the first three grades are to report to the old building. Pupils in the next three grades in Hyndman will travel by bus to the Londonderry building, Keller said.

Faculty members for the various buildings are: Hyndman Primary—Miss Mary L. Myers, principal and first grade; Miss Anna MacLay, first grade; Mrs. Elizabeth Thomas, second grade, and Miss Alta Diehl and Mrs. Genevieve Porter, third grade.

If weather permits, a schedule of games will be presented which will include horseshoe pitching, races and softball.

Recession Hits School System

PARKERSBURG, W. Va. (UPI)—The business recession in such industrial centers as Akron, Toledo and Detroit is placing an added burden on school systems in some West Virginia counties, according to Wood County School Supt. E. S. Shannon.

Shannon said many West Virginians laid off at plants in those areas have been returning to their parent's homes in rural areas and, bringing their children with them. The Wood County school system expects an enrollment of 16,500 next month, a 500 increase from last fall, but Shannon said the increase may be much heavier.

The superintendent noted that plans had been made last year for 500 additional pupils while the actual increase numbered 827—and that was before the business downturn caused a back-to-home movement.

Westvaco Cuts Common Stock

NEW YORK (AP) — Directors of West Virginia Pulp & Paper Co. reduced the dividend on the common stock to 30 cents from the 40 cent rate paid in recent quarters.

David L. Luke, president, said a cut in the dividend was necessary because capital requirements are growing as a result of recent extension of operations. He noted that while earnings are continuing to cover the previous rate of dividend payments, they are materially lower than in 1956 and 1957.

The company reported earnings of $5,820,000 or $1.26 per share for the nine months ended July 31 vs. $9,815,000 or $1.85 a share in the like period a year ago. Sales were a record $149,547,000 compared with $146,563,000 in the same period last year.

Luke said like other paper companies, the firm's profits have been hurt by a cost-price squeeze. The 30 cent dividend is payable Oct. 1 to holders of record Sept. 15.

County To Pay Clerk For Dog Calls

The Board of Allegany County Commissioners yesterday voted to pay Mrs. Margaret Kidwell, a clerk in the office of the Mayor and Council, $25 a month because she spends so much of her time answering dog complaints from residents of that area.

Mrs. Kidwell discussed this matter some time ago with County Commissioner William A. Wilson and he brought it to the attention of the other commissioners who concurred in the plan. Burza Hanlin, the dog warden designated to serve the Frostburg area, lives in Westernport.

Several road complaints were referred to County Roads Supervisor Harry T. Skelly yesterday.

Mrs. J. B. Stafford, who lives on Wildcat Hollow Road, informed the commissioners that the Lane between McMullen Highway and the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad tracks. They also lodged a protest against the condition of a junkyard along that lane.

Cochran HOLD-TITE House Paint

LIKE LOUVERS—IT BREATHES

Cochran Hold-Tite is a long wearing No Peel, No Blister, breather type, medium gloss, mildew and some resistant house paint. Equal to or better than the highest quality paints on the market.

What Happens After Painting

The 'places scraped or burned off and painted with Hold-Tite breathe and act as louvers or vents. The moisture present in the house comes out through these spots (louvers) in the form of vapor, drawn out by the sun. This is the same principle as if you had actually drilled holes and put louvers in your home. These spots (louvers) will help relieve the moisture pressure on the entire exterior surface of the house, even including where the old paint has not been removed. Hold-Tite acts like the human skin—lets water vapor out but does not let water in.

Hold-Tite has been used on thousands of homes for over 5 years, and has proved that it does solve blistering and peeling problems.

Auditor Finds Discrepancy In Auto Fund

Fixing Blame Next To Impossible In $95,846 Shortage

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Legislative Auditor C. H. Koontz Tuesday reported finding a $95,846 discrepancy in the accounts of the West Virginia Department of Motor Vehicles, but he said fixing the blame would be "next to impossible."

Koontz, in a report to the Legislature's interim Committee on Government and Finance, said the shortage covered the department's licensing period between May and Dec. 31, 1957.

The auditor pointed out that during the eight-month span in question, two commissioners headed the agency. Hubert A. Kelly, the present commissioner, replaced Joseph Condry on Aug. 1, 1957.

"It would be next to impossible to trace the apparent discrepancy to any individual or division of the Motor Vehicles Department," Koontz said.

Koontz asked if the committee wanted him to make a complete audit of the department. But the query, along with his 50-page report, was deferred until the committee's next meeting.

The report cited the department's accounting practices and procedures as its chief weaknesses. Department accounting methods fail to prove cash against related documents, the report said.

Koontz also said that its method of cash item was another weakness. He told the committee that in an attempt to find cash on hand last Jan. 2, auditors were directed to three separate locations.

Improvement in accounting and control procedure was deemed "essential" by the legislative auditor. He said consideration should be given to proper mechanical equipment to handle records and provide better control of cash receipts.

Among other recommendations by Koontz was a flat license fee for motor vehicles instead of the present charge based on weight.

Women Want Mink Coat First, New Kitchen Next

By DOROTHY ROE

If women wrote to Santa Claus, their first request would be for a mink coat, their second a dream kitchen.

This is a well-authenticated conclusion arrived at by Sam Reiner after 11 years of producing prizes for contests.

Reiner is a pleasant, quiet-spoken man who doesn't look at all like Santa Claus, but gives away a million dollars a year in contest prizes. This year, he says, it may hit two million.

A former brasserie salesman, Reiner decided to set up a business as a contest consultant shortly after he got out of the service in World War II. In the years since he has given away everything from the use of a palace on the Riviera to a mattress stuffed with money.

Says he: "Trends change in American dreams. Ten years ago women wanted household appliances more than anything else. Today the mink coat represents Utopia in the feminine mind. "Travel is something practically everybody dreams about, and some of the most popular contest prizes are trips abroad for a family of four. Men want high-powered automobiles, particularly sports cars. The whole family dreams of having a swimming pool in the back yard. And boats of all kinds are increasingly popular."

To keep abreast of the trends in the tastes of the public, Reiner makes periodic surveys of housewives, businessmen and office workers to find out what they would ask for if they were given Aladdin's lamp. Through the surveys he has reached some other conclusions.

"Most people would rather have merchandise than money," he says. "For instance, the sight of an $8,000 mink coat is much more exciting to a woman than a check of the same value. Money is something most people expect to get in sufficient quantity just by working."

Living Doll Heroine Of Best Sellers

By GAY PAULEY

UPI Women's Editor

NEW YORK (UPD)—Photographer Dare Wright has turned a childhood toy into "a living doll". The result is delight for thousands of child readers and a whole profitable new career for a tall willowy blonde who also used to model.

Dare Wright is author and illustrator of "The Lonely Doll," a best-seller among books for the young set, and its just-published sequel, "Holiday for Edith and the Bears."

The heroine of both books is a doll, which Miss Wright named for her mother, Edith Stevenson Wright, the portrait artist and widow of Ivan Leonard Wright, once the drama critic on the Toronto Star.

"Edith" is much like dolls cherished by other small girls anywhere, until Miss Wright turns her camera on its tiny form, little girl face and long mop of straight blonde hair. Then she becomes animated and gets into all sorts of scrapes.

Started As Actress Miss Wright believes she is the first to try photographic animation of inanimate objects for children's books. She explained, in an interview, she got the doll for her seventh birthday. It was once a favorite toy, but as she grew up in Cleveland, Edith ended up in attic storage.

Dare came to New York to try acting and said she didn't do too badly—"I had some small parts and some good understudy jobs on Broadway, but they weren't enough to pay the rent."

So she turned to modeling and her face and clothes-horse figure graced many slick fashion magazines. At the same time, mannequin Wright began picking up camera know-how.

Settles In Studio By this time, Miss Wright was settled in a large, one-room studio apartment in New York and decided it was time to slip some things from home.

"I unpacked one truck and there was Edith among all the books," said the author. "I dusted her off, made her a wig out of a false chignon I had, and started her sitting for the camera."

Two stuffed toy bears are Edith's companions in the second book—chosen "for their photogenic qualities," said the author. "We looked at 50 or so before we found the right ones."

Edith now has another doll companion, "Lena," a fancily dressed one from Paris and the probable heroine of a new fairy princess story.

Father And Son To Open Offices

Dr. Bernie O. Coberly Sr., Mt. Savage, and his son, Dr. Bernie O. Coberly Jr., yesterday opened a joint dentist office at 37 Greene Street.

The elder Dr. Coberly is transferring his office from Mt. Savage, where he has practiced for several years.

His son, now entering private practice, was graduated from Allegheny High School in 1947, received his B.S. degree at the University of Maryland in 1952, his D.D.S. at the university's Baltimore College of Dental Surgery in 1956, and has just completed two years of service at the U.S. Army Arctic Training Center, Fort Greeley, Alaska, where he served as post dental surgeon with the rank of captain.

Steel Firm Sued By Five Ex-Employees

Plaintiffs Claim They Lost Jobs For Fifth Amendment Use

BALTIMORE (AP)—Damage suits totaling $500,000 have been filed by five former Bethlehem Steel Co. workers who claim they lost their jobs for invoking the Fifth Amendment before a congressional committee.

Seeking $100,000 damages each from their unions and the steel company are Milton Seif, Joseph Henderson, William H. Wood, Benjamin Fino and Aaron Ostrofsky. All are from the Baltimore area.

Seif filed his action against Bethlehem and the Industrial Union of Marine and Shipbuilding Workers of America, Local 24.

The others named the company, the United Steelworkers of America (AFL-CIO), Local 2610, and the United Steelworkers of America, unincorporated, of Dundalk.

The men contended they were discharged after appearing before the House Un-American Activities Committee here May 7, 1957. They said each had repeatedly stated under oath that he belonged to no subversive organization.

Baltimore City Superior Court was asked to require arbitration regarding their job severances.

Invented Harmonica

The harmonica, a musical instrument formed of a series of bowl-shaped glasses and played by rubbing the rims with a dampened finger, was invented by Benjamin Franklin.

DIES—Ralph Vaughan Williams, 85, dean of British composers, died at his London home while writing music. Cause of death was not immediately announced. (AP Photofax)

Grandparents 'Kick Up Heels'

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Grandpa and grandma are going to kick up their heels.

They're some 99 members of the Irene Kaufmann Settlement. And not a one will ever see age 55 again.

They left Tuesday for a 10-day jaunt to the Emma Kaufmann camp in Harmony, Pa., about 30 miles from here, where they'll sing, dance, swim, play checkers and canasta and see movies.

Some Areas Will Have Double School Sessions

BALTIMORE (AP)—An estimated 1,200 new classrooms are expected to be ready when Maryland public schools open next week. But school officials say this won't be enough to prevent double sessions in some areas.

William S. Sartorius, director of administration and "2" 3 for the Department of Education, said yesterday this year's enrollment from grades one through 12 may total 536,900.

He said total enrollment next week will be 25,650 higher than when schools opened last year.

The estimate of 1,200 new classrooms is not official. Sartorius noted that the department has not yet received reports from local officials about the number of new classrooms available.

He noted that some of the new rooms won't be completed on schedule, while others will only replace those already obsolete or being used on a temporary basis.

New York Cheaper For Dentist Work

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Census Bureau reports it costs more to have a tooth filled in San Francisco than in New York.

The bureau said the cost per filling in New York was $5.17 compared with the nationwide high of $7.14 in San Francisco.

Scientists have found that temperatures may vary by as much as 20 degrees between a city's business center and its suburbs.

See About Getting a Newspaper Route!

• MANY A DAD has discovered that doling out extra spending money is not the constructive solution to a boy's ever-growing financial problem. For it gives the lad a false value of a dollar; also denies him the thrill of earning his own funds, and being able to do and buy things on his own!

THAT'S WHY the wise dad advises his son to see about a newspaper route as soon as he is old enough. With a spare-time route, a boy goes into business for himself. Buys papers wholesale, delivers them at retail price, makes collections, pays bills and keeps records.

AS A RESULT, he soon learns the value of an earned dollar—to spend it wisely, save regularly, and always try to increase his profits by good service and smart selling. Also, he learns that good habits and business ability pay off today—and will help him step ahead faster tomorrow! Does YOUR son have a newspaper route?

Miss Alaska, Miss Stuart Johnson Of Juneau, Will Be On Dick Clark Show Saturday

By WILLIAM EWALD
NEW YORK (UPI)—Views and reviews: NBC-TV's "The Investigator" was a sticky lump of fudge—one of those mysteries full of involved flashbacks, fishy capers by all the suspects and a who-cares solution. It was the sort of thing that probably played well on paper, but in visual terms, shuttled between the nowheresville of irksome and tedious. George Scott and David Stewart, two skilled craftsmen, were wasted in its-bitsy roles in the one-hour tangle. William Smithers and Liz Montgomery, who had larger roles, worked competently. Miss Alaska—Miss Stuart Johnson of Juneau—is raking in a fair chunk of TV publicity prior to the Miss America contest. This Saturday, she's booked in for the ABC-TV "Dick Clark Show" and Tuesday night she turned up on camera in the audience of CBS-TV's "Name That Tune."

CBS-TV's "To Tell The Truth," the show that faces off two liars against one non-liar, snapped off an unusual gimmick Tuesday night. It worked one gentleman through all three of its games and the panel of CBS-TV's "Masquerade Party" because of illness. Nice touch at the end, too: offered two cartons of the sponsor's cigarettes, he mumbled: "I don't smoke."

The incomparable Hildegarde was finally compared by someone Tuesday night—Jack Paar on his NBC-TV show told her she reminded him of Liberace. There is quite a likeness except that she dresses better. Hans Conried on the Paar show was shooting harpoons at Vincent Price — there seems to be a feud brewing. At least I hope so. Things have been awfully dull on TV lately.

The Channel Swim: "Primer on Politics," a new half-hour Sunday afternoon offering, will be slotted by CBS-TV from Sept. 28 to Nov. 9. Jinx Fiksenburg, absent from the panel of CBS-TV's "Masquerade Party" because of illness, has been ordered to bed for the next 30 days.

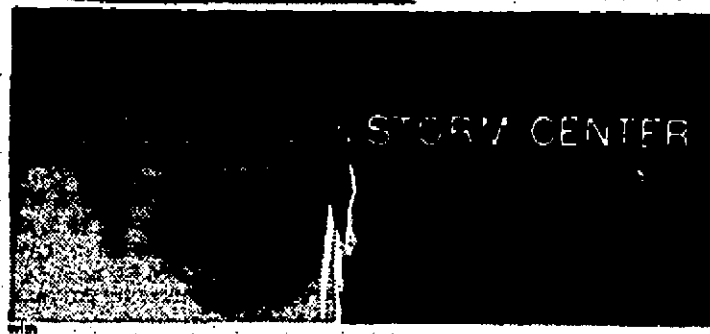

NBC board chairman Robert Sarnoff, in a letter to TV editors, has suggested the TV industry "examine the feasibility of rotating live coverage of great events among the networks"—this means some regular programming would continue to be seen by viewers during such events as the national political conventions.

Budd Schulberg, author of "What Makes Sammy Run" and "The Disenchanted," will help write and co-produce a proposed CBS-TV adventure series, "Ross of the Everglades." CBS-TV will lack on some music to Robert Louis Stevenson's "Treasure Island" and slot it as a spec this season. Gretchen Wyler, Dan Rowan and Dick Martin will cut a pilot for a proposed NBC-TV series. ABC-TV has changed the name of its upcoming Sunday night drama series from "Interplay" to "Encounter." Mike Stokely, emcee and packager of ABC-TV's "Pantomime Quiz," is pitching a TV version of radio's "Author, Author" at the networks.

Jackie Gleason will hold auditions to pick six girls for his upcoming CBS-TV show. He hopes to include one Chinese and one Negro in the sextet. ABC-TV will do a two-parter on "The Dew Line," the chain of radar stations across the Arctic region, on Sept. 9, and 16. Arthur Godfrey, who has dropped the audience from his CBS-TV morning show, will throw his audience open on Sept. 15 to 49 women—CBS-TV is bringing the gals in from all parts of the country that week to take a peek at its backstage operations.

First A-Sub Nautilus Termed A Lady

By WILLIAM SUNDERLAND
For The Combined Press
ABOARD THE U.S.S. NAUTILUS (UPI)—She's a lady.
That's the best possible description for the world's first atomic-powered ship, the submarine Nautilus. After a seven-day, record breaking voyage from Portland, England, to New York it's hard to say a bad word about her.

The Nautilus docked at Portland Aug. 12 after making the first voyage under the North Pole. And she was given the hero's welcome she deserved for the fabulous journey across the top of the world.

Shortly before the sub was scheduled to sail for the United States Aug. 18, three berths were opened up for the press. Which service would represent television, photos and writing was chosen by the flip of a coin. United Press Novietone won the television spot, and decided to try to get camera-covering the current crisis in Beirut, Baghdad and Amman.

Just In Time
Associated Press won the photo berth and sent British cameraman Leslie Priest. UPI won the news slot and sent me for the trip.

By military and commercial plane UPI managed to get Ziesse into London late the afternoon of Aug. 17. A UPI car picked him up at the airport with his tickets and equipment and then made a wild dash to the train station, picking me up on the way. We managed to catch the last train to Portland with a full two minutes to spare.

It was raining and cold when we arrived at the Nautilus five hours later.

The next day was hectic. We were out of bed at 0715 for breakfast. Then came some early morning television interviews, a last chance to talk to my London office and file a story. Finally, the last of the British press, British man Raymond Ziesse in from the Admiralty and visitors from all Middle East where he had been dockside band struck up with Yankee Doodle and the atomic-powered screws of the Nautilus set her into motion. A few last shouts and waves from the dock and we were headed to sea.

"Take Her Down"
For about two hours we stayed on the surface, heading for deep water. It was a smooth sea and the Nautilus—well known for her stomach-churning roll and pitch on the surface—kept moving right along.

At the last moment we went into the control room. There were a couple of squawks from the Klaxon and Skipper William R. Anderson said "take her down."

All of a sudden the Nautilus was quiet. It was like being tied up at dock again.

From then until we surfaced outside New York on the run setting a new submarine speed record crossing the Atlantic we moved fast. The Nautilus has an announced speed of "over 20 knots" and we averaged just about that on the trip across, or under.
